CALLS OPEN DOOR GOOD BUSINESS.

Canadian Statesman Sees Advantage to Both Dominion and America in Reciprocity Treaty.

SENTIMENT NO FACTOR.

Present Trend of Trade to England Is Due to Commercial Interests, and Not to Loyalty Only.

[BY JOHN H. RAFTERY.]

St. John, N. B., Aug. 13.—[Special Correspondence.]—Senator John V. Ellis, member of the liberal party from New Brunswick in the Canadian house of commons, is an ardent believer in absolute commercial unity with the United States. He has been accused of being a disloyal subject of King Edward and an annexationist, but he is neither. He has been twice elected to parliament, is editor of the most influential newspaper in New Brunswick, and, although he is a politician, he never has receded from his free trade attitude, either as a legislator or as an editor.

"I believe that the Canadian public is now, as it has been, in favor of reciprocal trade arrangements with the United States. I know that New Brunswick is in that frame of mind," he said. "I believe that the Canadian public understands this subject better than does the public of your country. I do not question the sincerity of the public of the United States on this subject, but it is a matter of recent history that Canada has made most of the effort towards reciprocal understandings and that the defeat of the project has always come from your side of the line.

Question of Good Business.

"Mark you, too, I do not deny that free trade with the United States would be a magnificent benefit to Canada as a nation. I would not favor even a measurable reciprocity if I thought it was to aid only the United States. I am convinced that it would be of immediate and lasting value to both countries, and my constituents of New Brunswick agree with me in this belief. This is no question of national prejudice, of provincial advantage, or of political significance. It is a question of good business for the two nations. I am and have been for it because I think it would redound to the advantage of all Canada. It is folly to talk of Canada 'getting the best of it,' since such a dénouement would insure the ultimate withdrawal of such a treaty so far as the United States is concerned. A temporary measure would be of no benefit except as a trial, but, I believe, if such a unity of commercial interest and exchange were once properly and sincerely established it would endure to the satisfaction of both countries.

"But we have failed with the United States. We are not going begging either. The prosperity of Canada is greater than it has ever been. The volume and force of our commercial and populating growth have forced us into new and, in many ways, better tariff arrangements as regards England. Our tariff now gives a preference of 25 per cent to England on all importations. And yet, in my province, as in all the others, we buy more, constantly more, from the United States than from any other country; indeed, we buy more from the United States than from all the rest of the world combined. What could we not do if we had open doors between these two greatest countries of the hemisphere? Sentiment is one thing; common sense is another. I am not only a New Brunswicker, I am a Canadian. I want the best for my country.

"Emigration from Canada to the states is falling off year by year. Immigration from the states to Canada is growing by leaps and bounds in the western provinces. There are some things we need—free trade with the United States, perhaps, among them. But Canada is arrived at a position in which there is no cause for worry, tariff or no tariff."

Canada Would Respond to Nod.

It is the opinion of many observant persons here that all there is needed to make commercial unity with the United States an almost universally popular demand is a united and responsive action in the congress of the United States. St. John itself is, of course, an exceptionally British town; it is the loyalist head center of New Brunswick, and there is some bigotry here against the United States because this port was settled by those British adherents who left New England before the close of the revolutionary war. But so far as I can learn the bulk of sentiment is wholly friendly with the United States, and especially favorable to reciprocal trade compacts. Mr. E. A. Schofield, head of the leading paper jobbing house of New Brunswick and vice president of the St. John board of trade, told me this:

"I was raised in the paper business in Holyoke, Mass., and when I came here my natural as well as my commercial tendency was to buy in the United States. I did so for some years, but by imperceptible degrees my trade drifted to England so far as purchases are concerned. The British preferential phase of the Canadian tariff readjustment had something to do with this, no doubt. You see under this clause, while our import tax is the same on English invoices as on American, we get back in rebates 25 per cent of the embargo. On one-process paper the original tariff tax is 25 per cent; on two-process paper it is 35 per cent. You can see that the 25 per cent off on importations from England is considerable.

Paper Trade Goes to England.

"English mills have taken advantage of this favorable condition and they are turning out the sort of papers that appeal to our trade. More paper salesmen come here from England now than from the states. There may be a little sentiment in it all, of course, but none so far as I am concerned. Personally, I am in favor of free trade with the United States; first, because I think it is good common sense for both countries, and, second, because I don't see why politics should be a phase of the question at all. As for loyalty to England, it seems to me that the best loyalty is to make Canada as great as can be. I suppose the same idea of loyalty is still working in the states. I think you will find, wherever you go in Canada, that the people, the statesmen, and the merchants—we'll say nothing of a few monopolists—are in favor of reciprocity, at least with the United States.

"Canada, as I see it, is being driven in self-protection back to England, both as a buyer and as a seller. Our wood paper pulp goes, almost wholly, to England. We buy all we can from her under the preferential tariff that is now in force on the importations from

STRIKE DEAL OFF; MAYOR WILL TRY.

Secret Negotiations for Peace in Stockyards Fail, and Only Hope Rests in Mr. Harrison.

PACKERS MAY SAY NO.

They Increase Shipments of Meat, but Unions Get Financial Aid and Hope to Win Victory.

It is for Mayor Harrison to bring about a settlement of the packing house strike, if he is able to do so. Other plans to this end failed entirely yesterday. President Donnelly of the butcher workmen said in the evening that the secret negotiations that had been conducted for some days were all off.

After the mayor had been requested by representatives of the retail grocers and market men, he asked the union leaders and the packers to meet him. President Donnelly replied that a committee from the allied trades would call at the city hall this morning.

Edward Tilden of Libby, McNeill & Libby, for the packers, made no reply. He said this was not necessary, as Mr. Harrison already knew the attitude of the interests he represented. What this was, he said, the mayor alone was at liberty to tell.

Mr. Harrison said that the union side would be heard first and that the next step would simply depend on the result of this hearing. The labor leaders said that a peace agreement could only be arranged in a joint conference with the employers, and Mr. Tilden declined to discuss the question.

Victory Assured, Says Donnelly.

President Donnelly said he was more than satisfied with the progress of the strike, and that he was certain the men had so much the best of it that their victory was assured. It was declared that so much financial aid had been given the butchers by other labor organizations that they could continue their fight for weeks.

The statement of eastbound shipments by railroads, on the other hand, showed conclusively that the packers were gaining ground. Provision shipments, which for the week previous were 16,526 tons, ran up last week to 21,373 tons. This is only 5,000 tons below the shipments for the corresponding week of last year.

Health Report Referred.

Building Commissioner Williams and Health Commissioner Reynolds submitted to Mayor Harrison their joint report concerning conditions in the stockyards packing plants. The mayor referred the report to Corporation Counsel Tolman for an opinion and said he would not discuss or make public the document until it had been acted on by Maj. Tolman. An opinion will be given in three days.

The report that four of the packing companies were operating without licenses will be investigated by the corporation counsel, according to instructions given by the mayor. The following concerns are said to have had no permits since April 30: Armour & Co., Nelson Morris & Co., Libby, McNeill & Libby, and the Omaha Packing company.

Mayor Wants to Mediate.

Mayor Harrison wants to be the mediator in the strike. After being asked by the retail meat dealers' committee to use his best offices to bring about a settlement of the difficulties, he sent the following letter to President Donnelly and Mr. Tilden:

Dear Sir: I have been waited upon by representatives of the Meat Dealers' association, the Chicago Grocers and Butchers' association, the South Side Grocers and Marketmen's association, and the central committee of the Grocers and Marketmen of Cook County, with the request that I use my influence as mayor of Chicago to bring about a settlement of the present unfortunate controversy between the packers and their employés. These gentlemen have called my attention to the hardships entailed upon them by the packing trades' strike and the great financial losses they are suffering, and will continue to suffer, unless peace is brought about. In their interest, and in the still greater interest of the general public of our city, I beg to ask an immediate conference with you and those associated with you in the earnest hope that such a conference may lead to an amicable settlement of the existing troubles. Respectfully yours, CARTER H. HARRISON, Mayor.

Committee of Retailers.

The committee on whose request Mayor Harrison acted was made up as follows:

James S. Agar, president of the Meat Dealers' association.

H. E. Rairden, Knickerbocker Ice company.

C. W. Foster, independent wholesale butchers.

A. W. Ewers, Arnold Brothers.

Oscar P. Mayer, vice president Meat Dealers' association.

Sol Westerfield, Chicago Grocers and Butchers' association.

D. Rosenheim, South Side Grocers and Butchers' association.

J. L. Hontz, South Side Grocers and Butchers' association.

Joseph Leverman, central committee of Grocers and Marketmen of Cook county.

George Duddleston, representing meat dealers not belonging to any association.

Position of President Donnelly.

To the messenger who took the communication to the union headquarters, the reply was given that a committee would visit the mayor at the city hall at 10:30 o'clock this morning. The committee will consist of President Donnelly, John Fitzpatrick, and Matt Carr.

Donnelly's attitude toward the proposition was outlined in an address made by him to the cattle butchers at Watita hall in the afternoon.

"This strike can be ended only by the packers and the allied trades meeting together. The owners of the plants are whipped today. They are losing money and sooner or later they will have to consent to meet us in joint conference. Until then, nothing more can be done."

"The unions which are interested are ready to go into a joint conference with the employers at any time," he said later, "and there settle the differences that exist. If the mayor can bring about this conference, all well and good. But Mr. Harrison himself cannot settle the strike."

Refusal of Packers Predicted.

The unofficial report, brought to the city hall during the day, was that the packers would refuse, as gracefully as they could, to enter into any arrangement of the kind proposed by the mayor. They were quoted as saying that if the mayor would visit the stockyards they would show him that the strike was practically broken and there was nothing to arbitrate or any occasion for his taking a hand.

In spite of this, however, Mr. Harrison determined to go ahead with his endeavors on the ground that, whatever may be the conditions at the yards, the general peace

August ______ 1904.

Dear ______

I take this manner of calling to your attention the constitutional amendment which will be submitted to the voters of Illinois at the next general election.

This amendment, if passed, will enable the state legislature to furnish Chicago with a new, up to date charter, in place of the present antiquated, outgrown affair under which the city now labors.

Chicago is sadly in need of a new charter. At present within the city limits there are ten separate and distinct taxing bodies-namely: the city government, the county, the drainage board, the school board, the library board, and five park boards. These taxing bodies exercise coequal functions. Their respective jurisdictions are not in all cases clearly defined. Between them there are numerous clashes of authority, as well as evasions of responsibility.

You may have thought that this city is not well managed - that the streets are neither cleaned nor repaired, that the funds are wastefully handled, that taxes are heavy in proportion to the results obtained, that some of the parks have gone to seed. All these things are true. But they are almost inevitably true. Conceive, if you can, a great business conducted by ten different heads. Consider further, if you can, that these ten executives are all chosen in different ways, for different terms, and to a certain extent by different sets of directors or stockholders. What business, under such circumstances, could prosper?

The constitutional amendment, if passed, will enable eight of these ten different taxing bodies to be consolidated into one. This done, that one can be held responsible for its deeds or misdeeds. Experience in other cities shows it is often difficult to watch one set of officials. Consider the difficulties of Chicago, which has ten sets of officials to watch.

The charter amendment will also enable other serious abuses in Chicago's government to be corrected. The abolition of the corrupt justice shop and constable system will be possible. The city can borrow more money for permanent improvements. At present it cannot borrow in excess of about two-thirds of 1 per cent of its actual taxing value.

For Chicago itself the value of the charter amendment cannot readily be overestimated. But the success of that amendment is fraught also with great importance to Illinois.

Were Chicago better governed it could attract more inhabitants and more money. This increased prosperity would have a favorable effect on the prosperity of the entire state, since Chicago is the great Illinois market and shipping point.

Furthermore, Chicago, if given a larger measure of home rule, would demand less time in the general assembly for the consideration of purely Chicago measures.

There is, on the contrary, no conceivable way in which the passing of the charter amendment could injure Illinois counties outside of Cook.

I hope you will vote for the amendment for the reasons above enumerated. If you vote for any candidate in next November's election, but fail to vote either way on the constitutional amendment, your blank vote will count just as if it were cast against Chicago's charter. For, a constitutional amendment, to pass, requires a majority NOT of all the votes cast on the proposition, but of all votes cast at the election. No vote at all on the charter amendment is a full vote against the charter.

Yours truly,

TO MAKE STATE SAFE

Republicans Have Plan to Nullify Danger of Wisconsin Strife.

SAME ELECTORS FOR BOTH.

Supreme Court, Quarles Men Believe, Will Declare Move Legal.

A possible way of avoiding confusion in the republican electoral ticket in Wisconsin, thereby making the state "safe," in the estimation of republican managers, is being considered by party leaders. It is proposed to have the Wisconsin Supreme court pass on the question of having the same electors at the head of both the La Follette and "stalwart" tickets.

Senator Quarles and other "stalwart" leaders believe that the law will permit this, and have outlined the proposition to leaders in other states concerned in the outcome in Wisconsin. Such a procedure will be adopted in the state, according to Senator A. J. Hopkins of Illinois, and he and other republicans have been given to understand that nothing will be done by either faction to jeopardize the success of the national ticket.

Hopkins Explains the Plan.

"As I understand Mr. Quarles' proposition," said Senator Hopkins, "it is to have the question of placing the electors on both tickets decided by the Supreme court when the case is heard in September. They have one decision which takes the question in another phase. This was where a candidate of one party had been indorsed by the other and it was planned to have his name on both tickets. The court held this illegal.

"With regard to the La Follette and 'stalwart' tickets, it is held that they are not tickets of two different parties, but of one and the same party with two factions.

"Of course if the court should hold that the La Follette ticket is the regular ticket that settles the controversy, as Quarles and his faction will withdraw at once and leave La Follette in the field. If the decision is in favor of the 'stalwart' faction that leaves the La Follette people to get up their petitions, and it becomes of interest to the party at large not to have confusion in the electoral ticket.

Believes Wisconsin Is Safe.

"Any arrangement which can be made for the safety of the national ticket will be agreed to by both factions. Neither could afford to take any chances of injuring it to advance their own interests, and this is appreciated by them. For this reason we believe that Wisconsin is safe."

Harry New, western vice chairman of the national committee, also believes the state to be safe, although he is not convinced that the same national electors can be placed at the head of both tickets.

"It is a question of state law," he said, "and I do not know what the Wisconsin law provides. I know it could not be done in Indiana. The law there is perfectly plain on the subject."

La Follette Men's New Hope.

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 15.—[Special.]—A meeting of the former republican state central committee has been called at Madison on Aug. 19 to certify to the Supreme court which of the two state tickets recently named is the regular one. The La Follette men hope to win their case on the certification of the old committee.

TEN COMMANDMENTS CODE FOR LABORERS ON CHURCH.

Workmen at Logansport, Ind., Face Big Placards, and Violations Are Considered Sufficient Cause for Discharge.

Logansport, Ind., Aug. 15.—[Special.]—Acting on the advice of the pastor, the Rev. P. Ross Parrish, contractor L. O. Miller of Middletown, Ind., who is building a new church for the Broadway Methodist congregation, today hung in his office and in conspicuous places about the site where work is in progress huge placards bearing the ten commandments. Strict adherence to these divine injunctions is required of every laborer employed. Repeated violation of any commandment by the laborers is considered cause for discharge. The type in which the placards are printed can be read across the street.

During the recent erection of the Market Street Methodist church the contractor was required to give bond that no workman employed would use tobacco, liquor, or profanity during work hours. The men struck once and others took their places. The Market street building is nearly complete.

MRS. MAYBRICK MAY NOT LAND.

Acting Commissioner of Immigration Holds That Under Law Convicted Alien Must Be Sent Back.

New York, Aug. 15.—[Special.]—There is a possibility that Mrs. Florence Maybrick, recently released from a British prison, and now on her way across the Atlantic, may not be allowed to land when she reaches New York, but may be sent back.

Assistant Commissioner of Immigration Joseph Murray, who is acting commissioner in Commissioner Williams' absence, says that, as things stand at present, he should, unless otherwise instructed, be disposed to refuse her permission to land here.

He bases his attitude on a section of the immigration laws which forbids admission to the United States to aliens who have been convicted of felony or other infamous crime or misdemeanor involving moral turpitude.

He holds that Mrs. Maybrick, although she was born in America, became a British subject when she married an Englishman, and that there never has been any official act since then to show that she is to be regarded as an American citizen.

It is said Commissioner of Immigration Sargent has issued orders to allow Mrs. Maybrick to land, but Mr. Murray said he had heard of no such order.

WANT 100,000 MAIDS.

Astounding Shortage in Domestic Servants Is Revealed.

HELP DEMAND WIDESPREAD.

Places Could Be Found for 40,000 in New York and Vicinity.

New York, Aug. 15.—[Special.]—It developed today that places readily could be found for nearly 100,000 servant girls if the latter could be secured.

The demand comes not only from this city, but from the west as well, whence the clamor for domestic help is as insistent as in this city and vicinity.

Chicago is on the list of applicants, and inquiries from there indicate that the scarcity of help in that city is as bad as in New York.

Inquiries at Ellis Island.

This remarkable shortage in the supply of household maids was developed by the inquiries by an industrial organization into the proportion of female immigrants arriving here within the last six months.

The authorities on Ellis island could place 40,000 domestic servants in positions within a radius of twenty miles of the metropolis within three hours after their arrival. More than as many more could be placed in the west.

"The only trouble is we haven't the 40,000," said an official of the immigration bureau. "Never before in the history of this bureau has there been such a great demand for domestic help. It is a notable illustration of the good times that prevail. When times are poor domestic servants are among the first to suffer.

Few Come from England.

"Emigration from the British isles is a disappointment so far as the numbers are concerned. The British government is doing all in its power to discourage emigration. A few years ago Great Britain was doing all in her power to encourage emigration.

"My estimate of 40,000 homes wanting servants is a low one, but it is based on actual knowledge and first class information."

NO FEMALE CARRIERS WANTED.

Postoffice Department Wants Men Who Can Hop on One Foot Twelve Times Across the Floor.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 15.—[Special.]—The plan of Postmaster McKay of Des Moines, Ia., to introduce women mail carriers in that city will be heartily discouraged when his request for permission to do so arrives.

After appealing to Postmaster McKay's sense of propriety, the officials may fall back upon the regulation which deals with the uniform required. This section refers without reserve to "pants, vests, and coats."

"The examination and physical qualifications also might prove a stumbling block for women," said an official, "one of the qualifications being ability to hop a certain distance on one foot twelve times without touching the other foot to the ground."

BULLETIN.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

ROME, Aug. 15.—A telegram received at the naval office says a tremendous explosion has been heard at Port Arthur, leading to the supposition that the Russians have blown up the warships that returned to the harbor after Wednesday's sortie. The military harbor is entirely within range of the Japanese guns.

NEAR CRISIS AT PORT ARTHUR.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, Aug. 16, 3 a. m.—All the news from the seat of war indicates that Port Arthur is on the eve of being taken by storm, or of surrendering.

The desperate situation of the stronghold is indicated in the following summary of the news:

Gen. Stoessel reports officially that the Japanese have captured Takushan or Taku hill after fifteen hours of hard fighting. Takushan is three miles from the city of Port Arthur and one and one-half miles from the inner line of forts. It is 845 feet high. The highest position between Takushan and the city of Port Arthur is 656 feet high. Thus Japan's guns have an easy, unobstructed range of three miles.

Stronghold Is Surrounded.

Refugees who arrived at Chefoo yesterday state that the Japanese have occupied the Liauti hills as well as Sushiyen, the latter place being three miles north of the fortress. The Liauti hills are five or six miles southwest of the inner harbor and are 1,512 feet high.

Tokio dispatches say the Japanese have captured three Russian batteries and secured positions close to the inner fortifications.

Fighting Almost Continuous.

Reports from various sources show that the fighting between the besiegers and the garrison was almost continuous up to the night of Aug. 12. There is no mention of land fighting on Aug. 13 and 14.

A bulletin from Chefoo states that a general naval battle began at Port Arthur yesterday morning. This, if true, proves that Togo was right when he said that five of the Russian battleships returned to Port Arthur after last Wednesday's naval battle.

May Fall at Any Minute.

A St. Petersburg dispatch late this (Tuesday) morning says:

"The expectation here is that Port Arthur will fall at any moment. Especial significance is attached to the fact that Lieut. Gen. Stoessel's wife and children went to Chefoo on board the torpedo boat destroyer Ryeshitelni."

RUMOR OF TOGO'S DEATH.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

[Copyright: 1904: By the New York Herald.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 15.—Reports ran through town during the day that Admiral Togo was dead, and that Port Arthur had surrendered. The greatest excitement reigns. The desperate situation of Port Arthur occupies the public mind to the exclusion of all else. It is fully realized that the capture of the fortress is possible at any time. The departure of the fleet, including even the hospital ship, was Gen. Stoessel's signal that the supreme moment for the defenders of the stronghold is imminent.

Public opinion is being prepared here by being reminded constantly of the overwhelming force of the Japanese, who are continually being reinforced, whereas the Russians can neither replace the men killed, nor the ammunition expended. The Japanese have 100,000 besiegers and 450 guns, of which 50 are mortars.

The people here are reminded that the fall of Port Arthur will in no wise affect Russia's position as regards the campaign, and have no decisive effect on the result of the war.

JAPS CAPTURE TAKU HILL.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 15.—The emperor has received the following dispatch from Viceroy Alexieff, dated Aug. 13:

"According to a report from Port Arthur, Aug. 10, the Japanese attacked Taku and Siaohou mountains in enormous force during the night of Aug. 9, and occupied them after fifteen hours' fighting on the night of Aug. 10. During a heavy rain storm the Japanese attacked our east front, but were repulsed at all points. They also attacked simultaneously our whole front from Wolf hills to Taku mountain, but everywhere were driven back. The fortress has been bombarded from the east side for four days.

Stoessel Reports Fighting.

The war office today received a message from Port Arthur in which Gen. Stoessel, under date of Aug. 11, reports a successful repulse of a general assault on the Russian outer positions during the night following the departure of the Russian squadron. He does not mention a naval engagement or refer to the return of the warships.

NAVAL BATTLE IN PROGRESS.

CHEFOO, Aug. 15.—That a general land and naval attack was made on Port Arthur today is indicated by information from various sources.

The statement that the naval attack was made at 4 in the morning comes from an authoritative but not diplomatic, quarter.

Junks which arrived here today say the Japanese recently occupied the Liauti hills and Sushiyen, which is two or three miles north of the fortress. Five warships and seven torpedo boat destroyers, according to the junks, returned to Port Arthur the night of Aug. 10.

Japs Take New Positions.

Junks which arrived here today, having left Port Arthur Aug. 12, brought reports that the Japanese occupied new positions on that day. The firing was heavy, but intermittent, and indicated that the assaults were being continued.

The Russians at Port Arthur are reported to be downhearted.

The men who came on the junks declare that the commander of the Japanese fleet before Port Arthur informed the Russian commander of the place that if the warships which returned to the harbor after the sortie of Aug. 10 were sunk by the Russians the Japanese would shell the town with lyddite.

AMERICAN ATTACHE IS MISSING.

Lieut. Newton A. McCully of the United States Navy May Have Left Port Arthur on the Czarevitch.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 16, 1:30 a. m.—The admiralty has no information as to whether Lieut. Newton A. McCully of the United States navy and Lieut. De Cuverville of the French navy, the only two naval attachés at Port Arthur, joined Rear Admiral Withoft's squadron when it left the port Wednesday morning last. Had they joined the squadron they would presumably have been on board the flagship Czarevitch.

The absence of news as to their presence with Admiral Withoft is taken to indicate that they remained on shore, and it is pointed out that it would be perfectly within the admiral's province to decline to take the attachés in case he considered the enterprise too hazardous, and so as not to expose the representatives of neutral nations to danger.

Where Are the Battleships?

The exact whereabouts of the Port Arthur battleships is still a mystery on which hinges Russian naval fortunes in the far east. Telegrams reporting them back at Port Arthur have not been confirmed up to this hour.

It is apparent that Vice Admiral Togo either cannot or will not say where they have gone. Admiralty officials declare they do not know, but they refuse to believe that out of five battleships not a single one managed to break through to Vladivostok.

May Have a Rendezvous.

Vice Admiral Togo's report of his own damage mentions only a few ships, which is believed to indicate that the others have not rejoined his fleet. It is more than probable that Admiral Withoft before going out fixed a rendezvous to which the vessels would proceed if separated, and it is likewise more than probable that this rendezvous was anywhere except at Port Arthur, the most likely point being between Shanghai and Kiusiu, the most southerly of the three principal islands of Japan, which is on the circular route to Vladivostok.

The Czarevitch was evidently heading for this point when it was compelled by the damages it sustained to turn aside and enter Tsingtau.

BALTIC SQUADRON SOON READY.

Cruiser Division Receives Sailing Orders for the Far East—Destroyers to Follow.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 15.—The cruiser division of the Baltic squadron has received sailing orders. Some of the vessels have already left Cronstadt, and others, including the Oleg, will leave in a few days. The division may go round the cape of Good Hope, where it will meet colliers.

A large amount of sailors' baggage is being taken to the new battleship Orel. Orders have been issued that all torpedo boats and destroyers of the second division shall be coaled to full capacity. The boats are to await further orders in the small roadstead at Cronstadt.

Shore liberty on all vessels has been curtailed after sunset.

Turks Refuse Russians Aid.

LONDON, Aug. 16, 3 a. m.—The Aden correspondent of the Daily Mail says that a Russian vessel, presumed to be the volunteer fleet steamer St. Petersburg, has been refused provisions at Hodeida, a seaport town of Arabia, and at Kamaran, an island off the west coast of Arabia.

NO MORE SHIPS TO BE SUNK.

Premier Balfour Says England Is Satisfied Russia Will Cause No More Trouble to Neutral Commerce.

LONDON, Aug. 15.—Replying to an inquiry by Sir Albert Kaye Rollitt, Premier Balfour, in a letter dated Aug. 13, says that the British government has reason to believe that no more ships to be used as cruisers will issue from the Black sea, and that no more neutral ships will be sunk.

At the final cabinet council today it was stated that Russia would pay an indemnity for sinking the Knight Commander.

England is disposed to follow the lead of the United States in the diplomatic treatment of the Chefoo affair.

LIAOYANG, Aug. 15.—The Japanese armies have resumed their advance not only toward Mukden and the railroad north of Liaoyang but upon Gen. Kouropatkin's main position at Liaoyang. A general engagement may be precipitated at any hour.

Already the Japanese outposts from Hungmiastzu have driven in the Russian outposts and advanced to Pensisu, where there is continual picket skirmishing, the opponents firing across Taitse river and valley. The Japanese also have appeared in possession of the positions they captured on July 31 and Aug. 1, leaving only the south open, where Russian scouts have located the enemy sixteen miles below Anshanshan.

The separation of the combatants after the last fight is due to the withdrawal of the Russians. The Japanese appear to have only temporarily retired from their camps. It is thought here that the Japanese have an inordinately large force at Port Arthur and that Gen. Kuroki's force has been diminished.

Japs Prepare to Attack.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LIAOYANG, Aug. 14.—[Delayed.]—The Japanese are preparing to make an attack. They are eight miles to the southward of Anshanshan and thence hold a line southeast, including the valley of Sidahi, whence their line runs northeast to Holoungow, which is occupied by a large force.

On the Taitzi river the Japanese outposts occupy Daodinshan. The road thence stands towards the Yantsi mines and the railroad north of Liaoyang.

The Japanese also occupy Tziantchan, opposite Dapindoushan, on the Saimatzi road over the Taipin pass and through Sintszintin to Mukden.

There are constant reports that the Japanese are moving large forces on the railroad to Sinmintin and that they are bringing up pontoons to cross the Liao river, thus threatening the Mukden and Liaoyang railroad.

The Japanese are ever showing a desire to close the circle from the north, simultaneously moving from the west and east towards Yantai, Mukden, and Ta pass.

Chinese bandits last night blew up a portion of the railroad ten miles south of Liaoyang. The road was repaired in a few hours.

Bandits Menace the Railroad.

MUKDEN, Aug. 15.—The Chinese bandit leaders, Kitsushan, Tulisan, and Folingo, each with a thousand followers, are now in the Sinmintin district, moving up the Liao river valley, with the object of attacking the railway. Each of the bands, which it is declared were organized by Japanese, is accompanied by a hundred Japanese with mountain guns.

Signs of Russian Retreat.

BERLIN, Aug. 16, 3 a. m.—A dispatch to the Lokal Anzieger from Liaoyang indicates a belief in the retirement further north of the Russian army. The dispatch says that the Russo-Chinese bank at Liaoyang is preparing to remove to Tielinghsien, and that the bank at Mukden is apparently about to close.

The Liaoyang correspondent of the Tageblatt estimates that the Japanese forces in the field number 320,000 men, of whom 100,000 are now in front of Port Arthur.

KAISER LOWERS CZAR'S FLAG.

Russian Warship in German Harbor at Kiauchau to Be Detained Until War Is Ended.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

BERLIN, Aug. 15.—The kaiser has ordered that the Russian battleship Czarevitch and the three Russian torpedo boat destroyers that sought refuge in Kiauchau bay on Aug. 11, be detained until the end of the war and that their officers and crews be held as prisoners.

This action has been taken because the German foreign office has ascertained that the damages sustained by the warships were too serious for repairs to be made within a reasonable time. Japan has been officially informed of the action taken by Germany.

Now in German Hands.

TSINGTAU, Aug. 15.—The Russian battleship Czarevitch and three torpedo boat destroyers are now in the hands of the local German government for repairs and it is improbable that these vessels will fight again in this war.

British Hold Russian Prisoners.

CHEFOO, Aug. 15.—The officers and crew of the Russian destroyer that was run ashore at Yangching bay marched to Weihaiwei and there surrendered to the British authorities. They will be sent to Hongkong on board the British naval storeship Humber.

NEW USE FOR MINES IN BATTLE.

Togo's Destroyers Drop Floating Torpedoes in the Pathway of Russian Ships.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 15.—The Novoe Vremya's naval expert, reviewing the incidents of the sea fight of Aug. 10, says:

"Admiral Togo's first division sailed out from the Elliot islands or Talienwan and arrested Admiral Withoft's progress, utilizing the enormous superiority of the Japanese in torpedo boats to attack the Russian vanguard and sowing floating mines in its course, a strategem hitherto unknown, which paralyzed Withoft's movements, as it was almost impossible to detect the floating mines without stationing a lookout in the bows, which necessitates exposing the men to almost certain death.

"This fact presumably caused Withoft and his staff to leave the conning towers and stand on the bridge, whence they could better detect the treacherous obstacles."

SAVES 600 FROM RURIK.

KAMIMURA STOPS PURSUIT OF CRUISERS TO RESCUE MEN.

Mikado's Admiral Foregoes Opportunity to Destroy the Entire Vladivostok Squadron in Order to Pick Up Russian Officers and Sailors Who Sprang Overboard from Their Sinking Ship—Survivors Arrive at Sasebo—Only Two Japanese Killed.

BULLETIN.

CHEFOO, Aug. 16, 2 p. m.—The Russian ships at Port Arthur made a sortie early today. They are now being pursued by the Japanese. A severe engagement is expected.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

TOKIO, Aug. 15.—Vice Admiral Kamimura's failure to pursue the Russian cruisers Gromoboi and Rossia is now explained. He gave up the pursuit in order to save the lives of the Russian officers and men who had thrown themselves into the water when the cruiser Rurik began to sink.

The Rurik carried 780 officers and men. Of this number 600 were rescued from the sea. They arrived at Sasebo today.

The casualties on the Japanese fleet were two men killed and seven wounded. Only one of the Japanese ships was hit.

Story of the Battle.

Admiral Kamimura, in his detailed report of the battle, says:

"At dawn Sunday morning the armored cruisers Idsumo, Capt. Ijichi; the Adsuma, Capt. Fujii; the Takiwa, Capt. Yoshimatsu; and the Iwate, Capt. Taketomi, while engaged in a search of Funsan, Corea, discovered three of the Vladivostok squadron steaming southward. Seeing us, the enemy endeavored to flee northward. We immediately closed their retreat. The engagement opened at 5:23 a. m.

Rurik Lags Behind.

"The Rurik, being the slowest of the enemy's vessels, was constantly left behind, and it formed a target for our incessant fire.

"The Rossia and the Gromoboi gallantly attempted several times to protect the Rurik. They frequently returned to the Rurik, and when united the three advanced together. Our fleet thus had the advantage, pouring its fire from a formation in the shape of the letter 'T.'

"The enemy's ships were seen to be on fire several times, showing thereby that they were heavily damaged.

Rurik Begins to Sink.

"The Rurik was finally disabled and its fire weakened. It began lowering in the water, listing to port.

"The Rossia and the Gromboi finally abandoned the Rurik. Just then our fourth detachment consisting of the protected cruisers Naniwa, Captain Wada, and the Takashiho, Captain Mori, having been seen attacking the Rurik, our squadron pursued the Rossia and Gromoboi.

"Severe fighting continued for several hours. The Rossia and Gromoboi escaped to the northward at full speed. At 10:19 a. m. our squadron changed its course to starboard and went south in search of the Rurik.

"In the meantime the Rurik had been sunk. Our ships steamed over the locality and succeeded in saving 600 members of the Rurik's crew. Our damage was not serious. The spirit of our men was excellent."

Admiral Kamimura was on the Idsumo and Rear Admiral Uriu commanded the fourth detachment.

RUSSIAN ATTACKS ON HAY.

St. Petersburg Editors Angry Because United States Will Not Compel Japan to Return Destroyer.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 15.—The newspapers vehemently attack the United States for refusing to compel Japan to return the destroyer Ryeshitelni and to make amends for her action in seizing the vessel in a neutral port. They complain that international law has been trodden under foot by Secretary of State Hay, the cunning Macchiavelli of Washington, who is taxed with aiding and abetting a crime against civilized peoples. On the other hand, the action of Germany in warning off "Japanese hyenas" at Kiauchau is highly commended.

ONE JEW, NOT TWENTY, KILLED.

The disorders in Siedlitz arose from a Jewess having been converted to orthodoxy.

EDWARD TALKS TO PARLIAMENT.

Reviews Situation of Great Britain on Closing Day of National Body.

CALLS WAR ISSUES GRAVE

Says Rights of Subjects Under Neutrality Laws Will Be Supported.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, Aug. 15.—Parliament was prorogued by the king this evening. During the session seven attempts were made by the opposition to turn out the government on votes of censure.

King Edward's speech was brief. After mentioning his visits to the king of Denmark and the German emperor, at each of which, he said, his reception was most cordial, and the agreement between France and Great Britain, which, he pointed out, will be advantageous to all concerned and materially strengthen the friendship uniting Great Britain and France, the king said:

"Hostilities, I regret to say, are still in progress between Russia and Japan. Upon the outbreak of the war I issued a proclamation declaring my neutrality and enjoining all my people to a strict observance thereof. Important questions involving the treatment of neutral commerce in the hands of belligerents have arisen in connection with these operations.

Neutral Rights Must Be Respected.

"The issues involved, which are of the gravest moment to the trade of the empire, will, I trust, be amicably settled without prejudice to the vast commercial interest of this country. My government will energetically support my subjects in the exercise of rights recognized by international law as belonging to neutrals."

The king said the scheme for the reorganization of the Macedonian gendarmerie under foreign officers promised satisfactory results, and expressed the hope that the introduction of the elective element into the legislative council of the Transvaal, which was a "step in the direction of ultimate self-government," would meet the united support of all his subjects in that colony.

Tibet Mission a Credit.

In regard to Tibet, the king said that the arrival of the "political mission" at Lhassa afforded him the greatest satisfaction and reflected credit on the officers and men of the small force. He hoped the conference at Lhassa would result in an arrangement of terms which would end the difficulties and friction on the northern frontier of the Indian empire.

After commenting on the satisfactory situation in Somaliland and enumerating the bills to which his majesty had assented, the speech concluded with the king's thanks to both houses of parliament.

LONDON, Aug. 15.—A Berlin dispatch to the Daily Express says trouble has arisen between the kaiser and Herreshoff, the yacht designer, who was to have designed a new racer for his majesty. The kaiser has decided to do his own yacht designing. At his majesty's order Herreshoff prepared plans and was to have superintended the building of the vessel. When the plans were submitted the kaiser desired to revise them. Herreshoff promptly replied that unless the yacht were built exclusively after his own designs he would have nothing to do with it.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 15.—Emperor Nicholas has issued a manifesto determining the order of succession to the throne. In the event of the emperor dying before the czarevitch attains his majority the emperor's brother, Grand Duke Michael, is to become regent, the empress assuming the guardianship of the Czarevitch. It is believed the manifesto marks the curtailment of the hitherto dominant influence of the dowager empress.

It is rumored that there was a bombardment of Asuncion today, but this cannot be confirmed.

JURY FINDS NEGRO GUILTY.

Awaits Sentence After Conviction of Part in Georgia Murder—Military on Scene.

Statesboro, Ga., Aug. 15.—Tonight the grand jury in the case against Will Cato, one of the negroes charged with the murder of Henry Hodges and family, returned a verdict of guilty, after being out eight minutes. Judge Daly immediately adjourned court until tomorrow morning without passing sentence. Fourteen other negroes are held, Paul Reed being under indictment.

The Rev. H. A. Hodges, a brother of Henry Hodges, who, with his wife and three children, was murdered, opened court with prayer. He pleaded that the people stand by the court in its action.

In spite of wild rumors all was quiet here today. Judge Daly found the local military on duty and the First Georgia regiment arrived from Savannah later.

KIDNAPING CLEWS VAGUE.

MORE LETTER WRITING IN MANNINO CASE AT NEW YORK.

Two of Latest Notes Received at Home of Boy's Parents Postmarked at Station O, Manhattan, Mailing Point of One Which Demanded $50,000—Youth Supposed to Be in Italian Colony, Somewhere Between Pittsburg and Boston—Detectives Hopeful.

New York, Aug. 15.—[Special.]—The Italian kidnapers who hold little Antonio Mannino have taken to letter writing again. Four letters came to the Mannino home this morning. Two were postmarked Boston and two station O, Manhattan, the mailing point of a previous letter which demanded $50,000. The Manninos and the police would say nothing about these letters, but one of the Boston letters must have come from the kidnapers, because the police of that city were notified by wire to be on the lookout.

Antonio Gulit, Angelo Cuccozza, Francesco Corneglio, and Mrs. Antonio Corneglio were arraigned in the Butler street court today, Cuccozza positively identified Mrs. Corneglio as the woman who was with the man to whom he delivered little Antonio last Tuesday night. Her bail was set at $5,000 and that of the other prisoners raised to the same sum.

Vague Idea as to Location.

Somewhere in an Italian colony between Pittsburg and New York the police believe the boy is held, and somewhere close to him is a dark, smooth shaven Italian man of quiet manners. That is as far as the Mannino kidnaping case has gone after six days of steady searching by corporation detectives and the frantic family.

Two Italian detectives, Corrao and Mealli, believe they are getting close to the boy and the house where he is held.

Detectives on Trail.

"I am sure of one thing," said Corrao, "that Laduca was in the house I have reference to within the last twenty-four hours. I believe he is making this his hiding place. The man who keeps the house is no stranger to me. I have friends who know him, too, and they have been with him. They tell me Laduca has been there. I have good reason to believe the other fugitive, Vitto Sciarino, who is named by his nephew, Angello Cuccozza, in his confession, is also hiding in this house. I have not located the house precisely, but I know where about it is. I am convinced I am on the right track of the criminals and the kidnaped boy."

WILL ASK WRIT FOR SPALDING.

Attorney Fyffe Today Will Begin Habeas Corpus Proceedings to Free the Former Banker.

The release of Charles W. Spalding, president of the defunct Globe Savings bank, from the penitentiary at Joliet will be sought today by Attorney Colin C. H. The prisoner's wife and friends believe it will be shown that Attorney General Hamlin's order to Warden Murphy to hold the banker five years longer is untenable and that the banker forthwith will be allowed his liberty. "I am willing to stake my professional reputation on the assertion that Mr. Spalding will be a free man before the close of this week," said Attorney Fyffe, yesterday. "We are prepared to show in court that longer retention of Mr. Spalding in the penitentiary is contrary to statute."

CALLS OPEN DOOR GOOD BUSINESS.

Canadian Statesman Sees Advantage to Both Dominion and America in Reciprocity Treaty.

England. That is all there is to it. I guess all Canada wants reciprocity with the states; but, unable to get it, is doing the next best thing."

What Opponent of Treaty Says.

Col. S. D. Scott, leader of the loyalist and anti-free trade wing of the St. John (New Brunswickers), is editor of the Daily Sun here and, by word and pen, an inveterate opponent of commercial unity with the United States. His opinion expresses the gist and force of the minority in New Brunswick, but it is a fair and direct utterance, expressive of the solidified conservative belief of New Brunswick. In answer to a dozen questions he answered:

"I do not think the desire for reciprocity with the United States is as strong in this province as it used to be, though there is no doubt that many of our farmers and lumbermen, all the fishermen, and all the owners and operators of lime, granite, plaster, and freestone quarries would get benefits from a free United States market.

Why Canadians Doubt.

"There are many causes—the increased demand for Canadian products in Great Britain, the feeling that it is impossible to obtain reciprocity on terms that we would consider fair, the failure of past negotiations, the abrogation of the old reciprocity by the United States, the hope of a mutual preferential trade arrangement with Great Britain, and the certainty that any measure of reciprocity acceptable to the United States would involve tariff discrimination by Canada against the British empire in favor of a foreign country.

"It is hard to measure the relative value of moral, patriotic, or political forces on one side and commercial or financial influences on the other. The loyalist feeling is always strong here, and in times of stress (as during the South African war) it will outweigh all commercial considerations.

Commercial Union Not Expected.

"I believe there will be no commercial union—first, because we are not the same nation, and that close coöperation is almost certain to involve on our part a preference to a foreign country over our fellow citizens; second, the United States and Canada are largely producers of the same things. Our producers are rivals rather than customers of each other. Our west and your west produce wheat; both countries produce iron and coal; both are largely agricultural; and on the east both have a fishing population.

"Gloucester does not want free fish; Maine does not want free potatoes; Michigan does not want free lumber; western Canada is not in favor of free coal; Ontario objects to free manufactures and free pork.

"The fact is, both countries are protectionists, and when the pinch comes neither will accept free trade with a country in the same class of business.

"On our side there is a strong national sentiment in favor of giving England the best chance in our markets. And I think that on your side there is a large element which does not desire a close alliance with Canada while Canada remains British."

GIVE FAIRBANKS CAMPAIGN TASKS.

Western Managers Assign Him to Speak at Two Meetings Soon.

CHICAGO DATE IN DOUBT.

Republican Committee to Send Out Bryan's Anti-Parker Addresses.

By visiting Chicago yesterday Senator Fairbanks, republican candidate for vice president, succeeded in learning two of the assignments which will be given him. He learned that he will make the Marion (Kas.) speech on Sept. 1, and, furthermore, that he will go to New York for a speech at Saratoga Springs on Sept. 14.

For further details of his campaign the senator was asked respectfully to wait until the western managers have succeeded in booking him.

A Montana trip as a side issue of the Kansas journey is a possibility, but not a certainty as yet. For two days and a night Harry New has been endeavoring to learn of the whereabouts of Tom Carter of that state. Thus far telegrams have failed to reach him. If he be found arrangements probably will be made for Mr. Fairbanks to continue out to Montana after he has opened the Kansas campaign at Marion.

Undecided About Chicago Speech.

No decision has been reached as yet regarding his presence in Chicago for the Labor day exercises. To all inquiries Mr. Fairbanks referred to the national committeemen at the western headquarters, except with regard to the New York trip, which he announced himself. While at the Auditorium Annex he met W. R. Stubbs, chairman of the Kansas state central committee.

"I simply ran up to talk over arrangements with the committee," said Mr. Fairbanks. "Indianapolis and Chicago are so close that one can easily make the trip. I go back tonight. My speaking dates are left entirely to the committeemen. Whatever they may decide will be satisfactory to me."

While in his room in the hotel Mr. Fairbanks watched the raising of the large banner of the national committee across Congress street between the two hotels.

Will Send Out Bryan Speeches.

Bryan's anti-Parker speeches and editorials from the Commoner will be used by the republican national committee as campaign documents. Mr. New already has ordered printed 250,000 copies of a pamphlet containing his Chicago speech after the New York state convention and of his editorials dealing with the candidate before and after the St. Louis convention.

State Candidates to Appear.

Arrangements for the appearance of the state candidates at the Labor day exercises were made by Denis J. Hogan, secretary of the democratic state central committee, and Roy O. West, chairman of the republican state committee. It is agreed that both Lawrence Stringer and Mr. Deneen, candidates for governor, shall make short speeches.

Thomas A. Moran will preside during the afternoon and Mayor Harrison during the evening at the demonstration of the Chicago Democratic club at Riverview park, Aug. 20.

The republican state central committee has a vacancy to fill on the Illinois electoral ticket. Frank H. Blane of Petersburg, Menard county, has become president of the First National bank of that place, and thus becomes ineligible for an elector.

Roundup Next Saturday.

Another roundup of congressional candidates, officials, and candidate for state board of equalization will be held here next Saturday. The districts participating will be the Eleventh, Twelfth, Thirteenth, Fourteenth, Fifteenth, Sixteenth, and Seventeenth. A luncheon will be given by Roy O. West.

PARKER CALLED TRUST MAN.

Republican Campaign Book Cites Relation of Candidate, Belmont, Meyer, McCarren, and Sugar Combine.

New York, Aug. 15.—[Special.]—In the campaign book just issued by the republican national committee an attack is made on former Judge Parker and the manner of his nomination. In the chapter entitled "The Trusts and Judge Parker" the campaign book says:

"Judge Parker owes his nomination as democratic candidate for the presidency to certain powerful financial interests in Wall street. This is a matter of record. The chief promoter of his candidacy was August Belmont."

The writer says that in the organization of the New York democratic state committee Parker's influence secured the election of Cord Meyer as chairman of the state committee and of Patrick H. McCarren as chairman of the executive committee.

Cord Meyer, the book says, was one of the original stockholders of the first organization of the sugar trust, and when, after an investigation of the combine, a committee of the New York legislature voted a condemnation, McCarren refused to sign it, and brought in a minority report approving the trust.

Davis at White Sulphur Springs.

White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., Aug. 15.—Democratic Vice Presidential Candidate Henry G. Davis, accompanied by a party of friends from Elkins, arrived here tonight preparatory to the notification ceremonies, which are to occur on Wednesday.

MORMONISM AN IDAHO ISSUE.

Character of Plank to Be Adopted Delays Proceedings in Democratic Convention.

Lewiston, Idaho, Aug. 15.—Consideration of the Mormon question is tonight blocking the proceedings of the democratic state convention, which met here today. United States Senator Dubois presented a radical anti-Mormon resolution, which was softened to simply denounce polygamy and the mixing of church and state, and promising to favor legislation to carry into effect those views. The prospect now is that this resolution will be defeated and the national democratic plank be simply reaffirmed.

PARTY CHIEF BOLTS ROOSEVELT

Takushan, Hill from Which Japs Are Now Bombarding Port Arthur.

Takushan, or Taku hill, the capture of which by the Japanese on Aug. 10 is officially reported by Alexieff, is the highest hill in the immediate vicinity of Port Arthur. It is 845 feet high, and overlooks the main line of the Russian fortifications, which occupy a series of hills one and one-half miles toward the town from Takushan. The highest of these Russian hills is 656 feet, or 189 feet lower than Takushan. The town of Port Arthur is three miles from Takushan.

STREET CAR FENDER FAILS: LITTLE GIRL MEETS DEATH.

Safety Device on Milwaukee Avenue Line Balks and Eight Year Old Child Is Rolled Underneath.

The failure of a street car fender to work properly cost the life last night of 8 year old Pearl Wienmeslage, 2433 Milwaukee avenue. She was run over by a Milwaukee avenue trolley car at Diversey boulevard and instantly killed.

The child was visiting her aunt, near the scene of the accident, and was on her way to a grocer's when she was killed. The car was moving at about half speed, the witnesses say, when it struck her. She fell under the guard and rolled beneath the car. The motorman stopped the car within ten feet of the spot where the child was when struck.

Passengers aided the crew in lifting the car from the body, which was taken to the parents' home. The child's father is a motorman. The car crew were arrested.

A laundry wagon, alleged to have been driven recklessly by Charles L. Gray, last night ran down Mary Rasmussen, 4 years old, 200 Oak street. The child, who was playing near home, was trampled upon by the horse. She was unconscious for some time. Gray, who is employed by the Saratoga laundry, 155 Huron street, was arrested.

Mrs. S. E. Phillips, 60 years old, 306 Michigan avenue, was severely injured by a fall from a cable car at State and Washington streets.

Martin Kimball, 15 years old, 1071 West Superior street, fell under a freight car which he was trying to board at Hoyne avenue and Kinzie street. His right leg was severed.

GIRLS VISIT CARNIVAL POLLS.

Candidates for West Madison Street Queen Make Campaign Tour in Automobile.

A campaign tour in an automobile was made last evening by three of the candidates for queen of the West Madison street carnival. Each of the twenty-five polling places between Oakley boulevard and Fortieth avenue was visited and handshaking with the crowd was done in true political campaign style.

Miss Lucille Nau, who was ahead of her competitors in the last count of votes, did not appear. The candidates who made the trip were: Miss Estelle Bearden, Miss Jeannette Lies, and Miss Lillian M. Copeland. Mrs. J. E. Scully, chairman of the campaign committee, chaproned the candidates. The trip probably will be repeated tonight and tomorrow night. The polling places close at 6 o'clock tomorrow evening, except the one at California avenue and Madison street, which will be open until 10.

Thomas J. Owen, who said he represented seven churches in the Thirteenth ward, appealed to Mayor Harrison to stop the display of fireworks contemplated for next Sunday in connection with the carnival.

FILES A THIRD DIVORCE SUIT.

Mrs. Ada Miller Alleges Husband Continued Cruelty After Withdrawal of Preceding Actions.

Alleging that her husband by false promises induced her to withdraw her two previous actions, Mrs. Ada Miller yesterday filed a third suit for divorce against Adelbert E. Miller. The defendant is said to earn $100 weekly as manager of an advertising company. Charges are that:

He began cruelty two weeks after marriage in New York City, in October, 1899, and continued attacks.

Persuaded wife to withdraw suit filed in March, 1902, and a week afterward beat her because she refused to go downtown with him on a rainy morning.

Threatened to "finish" himself or her with butcher knife.

Promised last February to give her weekly allowance if she would withdraw second suit.

Forced her to give up $1,200 check.

Miller was enjoined from disposing of his residence, 941 Pratt avenue, Rogers Park.

Mrs. Anna Eich fainted in court for the sixth time, so the hearing of her separate maintenance suit against Nicholas Eich was continued until tomorrow.

Arrested for Wife Abandonment.

After a chase lasting for several days Andrew Deveries, a fugitive, wanted in Chicago for abandonment, was arrested by Detective Sergeant Conick of the Central station yesterday at Kewanee, Ill. Deveries, according to the police, abandoned his wife and three small children three years ago. Mrs. Deveries several days ago learned where her husband was living.

READY TO TRY GAMBLERS.

STATE WILL NOT OPPOSE CALLING CASES TODAY.

Trials of Sixty-four Racetrack Bookmakers May Start in Judge Clifford's Court—Prosecution Will Rely on Detectives Grossman and Herron—Disappearance of Schubert Said Not to Interfere Materially with the Plans of the State's Lawyers.

The cases against sixty-four racetrack bookmakers indicted by the last grand jury probably will be called in Judge Clifford's court today without objection from the state's attorney's office, despite the disappearance of Detective Otto Schubert. In place of Schubert, who was employed by the Citizens' association to procure evidence against the gamblers, the prosecution may introduce as a witness Detective Grossman, besides Detective Herron, who was with the missing man when he placed bets at the racetrack with each of the defendants.

"Schubert's disappearance will not interfere materially with the prosecution of the bookmakers," said Assistant State's Attorney Barnes yesterday.

Says He Paid Constable $25.

A party of constables, headed by T. C. Crowe, is charged by Sam Cohen, proprietor of the "Boulevard Whist club," at 122 La Salle street, with exacting $25 from him last Saturday night under threat of seizing the furniture. Constables J. F. Biederman and M. Reidy are said by Cohen to have assisted Crowe.

"The men came into the clubroom and began moving out the furniture on the pretense that I was running a poker room," said Cohen. "When I remonstrated Crowe said they would put the furniture back and promise not to molest me again if I paid him $25. I paid it rather than get in a lawsuit."

Crowe and his confrères deny they received any money.

From Cohen's place the constables went to the Minden club, 83 Madison street, and the Owensboro Whist club, 112 Madison street. Both visits were "peaceable."

Schuettler's Men Make a Raid.

Detectives from Assistant Chief Schuettler's office raided the "Ping Pong" policy shop, 10 Clinton street, and arrested three persons, including the proprietor, Frank Wagner. At Alfred Halquist's cigar store, 214 Oak street, the detectives removed a telephone, said to have been used for the transmission of bets on horse races.

BLAMES ZION FOR SMALLPOX.

Health Department Finds Case in Chicago and Thinks It Was Contracted in Dowie's City.

Dr. Herman Spalding of the health department has found a case of smallpox which, he believes, had its origin in Dr. Dowie's Zion City. The patient is a 11 months old baby of the name of Malloy, whose parents live at 66 St. Johns place and whose condition was discovered yesterday.

"We have learned," said Dr. Spalding, "that the baby was taken by its parents to the Feast of the Tabernacle which Dowie had in Zion City twelve days ago. That is the only exposure we can find it was subjected to, and it must have been at Zion that the infant contracted the disease."

The case of Eliza Corbett, 51 years old, 167 North Clark street, also was reported. She contracted the disease in the neighborhood.

TAKES AUTOS FROM GREENBERG

Judge Brown Will Become Personal Custodian of Machines Till Receivership Dispute Is Settled.

Constable Louis Greenberg yesterday was ordered by Judge Edward O. Brown to surrender two automobiles which he had seized on justice court executions. The judge will become the personal custodian of the automobiles pending the settlement of a dispute over the receivership.

Constable Greenberg was ordered to deliver to the judge this morning warehouse receipts showing deposit of the two machines. "Automobiles are property that can run too fast," said Judge Brown, "and they cannot be left in Greenberg's possession."

The constable was charged also with disregarding the receivership and of contempt of court. His defense will be heard tomorrow.

SHORTAGE MAY BE $100,000: BROKERS' CASHIER ARRESTED

Bartlett, Frazier & Carrington Begin a Civil Suit Against George Emery, Criminal One Against Carl Baumann.

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 15.—[Special.]—Cashier George D. Emery of Bartlett, Frazier & Carrington was put in jail this afternoon as a step toward locating responsibility for a loss which may reach $100,000. Emery was arrested in a civil suit brought against himself and Carl Baumann, in which it is alleged that through conspiracy and fraudulent dealing the firm lost over $25,000. He is held till he furnishes a bond of $10,000.

A warrant is out for Baumann charging embezzlement. Detectives have been looking for him, but without success.

The books of the grain commission firm are being examined by experts from Chicago to determine the extent of the loss. William C. Duell, local manager, declares that so far there is nothing to be said concerning the amount.

Manager Duell said tonight that he believed outside parties were in the alleged conspiracy and that every effort would be made to run down all the guilty persons.

DROWNED AT BATHING BEACH.

Thirteen Year Old Boy Loses His Life in the Lake Off Oakdale Avenue.

Emmet Gibbons, 13 years old, son of Patrick Gibbons, 896 Racine avenue, was drowned yesterday afternoon while bathing in the lake at the foot of Oakdale avenue. With Edward U. Johnson, 888 Racine avenue, and Andrew Lofgren, 894 Racine avenue, he ventured beyond the lines and sank.

Johnson, who learned to swim only a week ago, went to his aid, and held him up for a few minutes. The boys called for help and Policeman Frank Williams and the guard launched a boat. By the time they reached the boys Gibbons had gone to the bottom. The body was not found for three-quarters of an hour.

The boy was an only son, and when the news of the accident reached his home the mother and two older sisters were almost prostrated with grief.

CROWD SEES TRIPLETS NAMED.

More than 200 Persons Attend Christening of Gerald, Gerard, and Geraldine Wilson.

The christening of triplets, temporarily known as "Faith," "Hope," and "Charity," was an event in Austin last night. More than 200 persons attended the ceremony at the residence of the parents, Mrs. and Mrs. William W. Wilson, 217 North Fifty-third avenue. A curious crowd on the sidewalk made entrance difficult. The triplets, who were born on June 30, were named Gerald, Gerard, and Geraldine. The Rev. Dr. Sidney Strong of Oak Park officiated.

STRIKE DEAL OFF; MAYOR WILL TRY.

Secret Negotiations for Peace in Stockyards Fail, and Only Hope Rests in Mr. Harrison.

of the city was endangered by the scope the strike was taking.

Speaking of the situation, the mayor said:

"Whether I can do anything or not I do not know. All I can do is to try. I have been holding off until I knew just what the conditions throughout the city were. I am informed that dealers are paying high prices for meat and the independent packers are unable to supply the local demand."

W. E. Skinner the "Go-Between."

It developed that W. E. Skinner, general agent of the Union Stockyards and Transit company, is the man who has been the "go-between" in the recent secret negotiations. Mr. Skinner approached the union leaders last week and sought to find a basis of settlement.

On Friday he went to the labor headquarters with a written proposition, which, he is said to have asserted, came direct from J. Ogden Armour. It provided for the return of the strikers as rapidly as business warranted, other differences being left to arbitration.

"If you will put your name to this," Mr. Skinner is declared to have said to President Donnelly, "Mr. Armour will sign it in half an hour."

"I cannot accept the proposition," Donnelly replied, "because I have not the authority. There are more unions interested in this than the butcher workmen, and I am not delegated with such authority even from my organization."

Reply Sent to Armour.

It was arranged thereupon that a meeting of the leaders of the chief trades involved should be held Saturday morning. Believing the proposition genuine, the delegates accepted it, with one slight change. The reply, directed to Mr. Armour, in charge of Mr. Skinner, was to the effect that an agreement would be entered into along the lines suggested if the details could be arranged.

Mr. Skinner brought back word that night to Donnelly and his associates, it is said, that if the additions made by the labor men were omitted and the proposition accepted in a letter to all the packers it would end the whole matter.

The suggestion was complied with in part at the special meeting of the allied trades Sunday morning, after a stormy session. Some change from the first proposition, said to have come from Mr. Armour, was, however, insisted on. This was the sticking point. When the matter came before the packers yesterday they decided they could go no further with it, and the negotiations were declared at an end.

When asked what caused the break Mr. Skinner declined to discuss the matter and denied that he had knowledge of the transaction.

SUPPOSED RIOT VICTIM FOUND.

Body of Negro Thought to Be One of Number Driven Into Bubbly Creek by Strikers.

The body of a negro, supposed to be a nonunion employé in the yards, was taken from the river at Thirty-fifth street yesterday. It had been in the water two weeks and was removed to the county morgue. The police believe the man was one of the negroes driven into Bubbly creek by union men. The body was that of a man 30 years old, 6 feet tall, and weighing about 160 pounds. A card bearing the name "Blackburn, 482 State street," was found in the clothing. The police were unable to find any one of that name there.

WOUNDS TWO IN A CROWD.

MAN MISTAKEN FOR A STRIKE BREAKER USES PISTOL.

R. E. Close, Railway Watchman, Pursues Boys, and Flagman at Another Crossing Accuses Him of Being Stockyards Worker—Runner When Stopped Shoots Aged Person and Empties Revolver Into Throng—Victim Refuses to Quit Post.

Accused of being a stockyards strike breaker, Robert E. Close, a watchman for the Santa Fé railroad, fired eight shots last night into a crowd of men standing near the Archer avenue bridge and wounded two of them. One of his victims, Frank Holleran, was wounded in the side, and is at the county hospital, but the other, Andrew Bloom, 70 years old, refused to desert his post at the crossing of the Chicago and Alton tracks, although he had a bullet in his thigh. Close was arrested after a chase by Policeman James B. Mitchell.

Both of the wounded men were taken to the Deering police station, and Holleran asked that he be removed to a hospital. It was not so with Bloom.

Refuses to Quit His Post.

"No, I must go back to my station," he said. "After the trains all have gone through, then maybe I'll go to the hospital, but until then I can't leave."

To the remonstrance of the police he replied:

"I have been shot before. I lost my arm at the battle of Antietem, and I carried a bullet in my side for nine days. This hurts, but I must get back to my post."

The shooting was caused by a mistake. Close was patrolling the tracks of the Santa Fé road near Ashland avenue, he says, when he saw boys stealing from a freight car. He followed them to the Archer avenue bridge, where the men were standing. Some one shouted that he was a strike breaker and Holleran tried to stop him.

Close became enraged and drew his pistol, firing first at Holleran, and then into the crowd, which promptly scattered. He emptied his revolver and reloaded it. As he was doing so Policeman Mitchell arrived and attempted to arrest him, but Close, it is charged, fired at him and then ran north to the Alton tracks. There Mitchell finally overtook him.

Close lives at 357 West Forty-third street.

Disorder During the Day.

During the day several other assaults and minor riots were charged up against the restless strikers.

John Frost, said to be employed at one of the big packing houses, was found, dazed, at Forty-third street and Ashland avenue. He was badly bruised on the head and face, and could not describe the men who attacked him. Charles David, 1860 Wabash avenue, was beaten by men supposed to be pickets as he was entering the stockyards at Forty-fifth street, near Gross avenue. Guy Bristol, 6339 Jefferson avenue, a foreman for Armour & Co., and Ratino Malio, an Italian, also were assaulted.

New Men Balk at Gates.

Fifty butchers brought from Philadelphia for Swift & Co. balked when they reached Chicago and threatened to mob the agent who had brought them. The men were headed by Tony Lavaneo. They surrounded the agent at the Forty-seventh street entrance to the yards and were preparing for an attack when the police arrived. They declared they had been told they were to work in a furniture factory and had paid the agent $3 each. They were cared for at union headquarters.

Few additions of workmen were made by any of the big packers, except Armour & Co. They secured 300 negro recruits from Tennessee, many of whom carried squirrel guns.

Supt. Young of Armour & Co. and H. K. Bell, manager of the Hammond plant, declared their houses were operating on a normal basis. Supt. Young said 4,000 cattle were being killed daily at the stockyards.

Pickets Are Withdrawn.

Pickets were withdrawn from several of the wholesale depots. Inspector Hunt's order to arrest all loiterers was said to be responsible. In Hammond, Ind., fifty union pickets surrounded the G. H. Hammond plant and persuaded butchers to buy of the independent packers. All the ice men at the Hammond and Wolf lake icehouses of the Hammond company went on strike at noon.

Five men accused of rioting were fined from $5 to $25 each. Most of them were arraigned before Justice Quinn of Hyde Park, to whom the police took a change of venue from Justice Fitzgerald.

The police of the Stockyards station have been asked to search for David Edwards, 92 Gault court, who is said to have gone to the yards yesterday, and whom his relatives believe to have been wounded by strikers.

STRIKE BROKEN, SAYS MEEKER.

Leaving New York for Chicago, He Talks of Situation—Says New Men Shall Not Be Ousted.

New York, Aug. 15.—Arthur Meeker of Chicago, a director of the National Packing company and of Armour & Co., who has been in New York for a week, left tonight for Chicago. He said before leaving that he was satisfied that the backbone of the strike is broken. He said:

"In the first place, the only men who are on strike are the employés of Schwarzschild & Sulzberger, the United Dressed Beef company, and a few sheep butchers of Swift and Armour, not one of whom had or has a grievance.

"According to our best information the great majority of the employés of the companies voted against the strike, and the absurdity of the situation is in the fact that they allowed themselves to be put out of work against their will by a vote of the workmen of the small slaughter houses in New York, Jersey City, and surrounding cities.

"That these companies were handicapped in their slaughtering operations for a few days there is no doubt, but they are well fixed now in all departments, and by the latter part of this week will be slaughtering their normal amount of cattle. In the meantime they have a large reserve stock in their refrigerators to draw upon, and all their trade is supplied as usual.

"The men who have filled the strikers' places have been largely recruited from the ranks of the packing house men in western cities, and are attracted to New York by the higher rate of wages, and who because of threats of violence were unwilling to work in their home cities where they were known.

"Only a certain proportion of the strikers can be taken back now, even if they apply for work, and each day that they delay the number of vacancies will be less."

Mr. Meeker was asked whether the men would be refused work if they should capitulate, and replied:

"Yes, we will take care of the men who helped us in this emergency."

KILLING ENDS LABOR FIGHT.

William Madden Is Slain by Nonunion Car Conductor Whom He Abused.

William Madden, 22 years old, 4228 Greenwood avenue, was shot and fatally wounded in a quarrel with George L. Smotherman, conductor on the Cottage Grove avenue cable line, early yesterday morning. He died at noon at the Provident hospital. The shooting was the direct result, the police say, of taunting remarks made to Smotherman by Madden, who abused him for not wearing a union button. Madden, it is said, struck the car man, who drew a revolver and shot him.

NEWS OF THE LABOR WORLD.

TORONTO, Ont.—Builders and laborers to the number of about 1,500 went on strike today for an increase in their wages from 25 to 28 cents an hour.

PAWTUCKET, R. I.—After periods of irregularity two cotton mills in the Blackstone valley started up on full time today, employing 1,200 hands.

COURT REFUSES PLEA OF MINERS.

Federal Judge Humphrey Overrules Motion to Dissolve Injunction.

RULING IN ZIEGLER CASE.

Upholds Right of Men to Work Without Interference; Leiter Employes Shot At.

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 15.—[Special.]—Judge Humphrey, in the federal court, this evening overruled the motion of the striking miners and officers of miners' unions to dissolve the temporary injunction which he had issued restricting the strikers or officers of miners' unions from picketing the Ziegler Coal company's property, or in any manner interfering with the operation of the mine. In overruling the motion Judge Humphrey said:

"Men that want to work have a perfect right to do so, and I will see that they are protected in that right in this district. The man who does not want to work has no right to interfere with the man who does. The man who owns the property has a perfect right to manage it in any way that he sees fit. A workman has the right to sell his labor or withdraw it, but he must not interfere with other men who want to work."

Miners Deny Violence.

The miners' officials filed an affidavit denying that they intended offering any violence, and accompanied by a number of affidavits to the effect that no violence was offered the passengers of a railroad train at Pinckneyville on July 30, when thirty of the passengers are alleged to have jumped through the windows of the train.

Henry R. Platt, attorney for the Ziegler Coal company, addressing the court on the motion to dissolve, declared that he was on the train when it was stopped at Pinckneyville, and that the miners threatened his life.

Refuses to Modify Injunction.

Judge Humphrey refused to modify the injunction so as to allow the strikers to enter the Ziegler Coal company's property, which includes the town of Ziegler, without permission by the officials of the coal company.

At the conclusion of the hearing the union miners' attorneys filed a bill asking for an injunction restraining the Ziegler Coal company from importing miners from other states.

Judge Humphrey refused to issue a temporary injunction without letting the officials of the coal company have a hearing on the question, and set Aug. 26 for the hearing.

Many Shots Fired at Ziegler.

Benton, Ill., Aug. 15.—[Special.]—At 9 o'clock this evening a carload of imported men, consisting of about fifty miners, arrived at Christopher en route to Ziegler. When Joseph Leiter's private switch engine hooked on to the car to pull it into Ziegler about ten shots were fired at the car from a neighboring barn. This was returned by seventy-five shots from the car, which at once pulled out for Ziegler. It is not known that any one was wounded.

A report is current tonight that a gas explosion killed four men and injured a score or more.

TUESDAY, AUGUST 16, 1904.

THE BUSINESS SITUATION.

During last month there were taken out in the twenty-six principal cities of the country permits for the erection of buildings whose total estimated cost was $35,000,000. The figures for July, 1903, were $29,800,000. In almost every city there is a gain. The loss in St. Louis is due to the fact that last year there was an extra amount of building because of the exposition. If it were not for the combined strike and lockout which has tied up construction in New York City this would be a much better summer for men in the building trades than was that of 1903. Happily there is peace in those trades, except in New York, where neither contractors nor unions appear to be able to keep agreements they make.

The greater activity shown in building operations is not apparent in the iron industry. The output of pig iron, exclusive of charcoal iron, last month was 1,082,794 tons, being 209,226 tons less than for the corresponding month of last year. In spite of the reduced output stocks accumulated during the month to the amount of 46,322 tons. On the other hand July requirements are always low, and if production does not increase consumption may soon be up with it.

Notwithstanding the comparatively small demand for iron and steel products, prices are maintained. For that reason and because of the small earnings of the roads thus far railroad managers are disinclined to give any orders this year. They say that none will be given for steel rails before its close.

The earnings of the railroads bid fair to improve from now on. Mr. James J. Hill, who is not given to overstating a case, says everything points to a great fall business for the railroads—that while the wheat crop is not what was hoped for, there is an immense corn crop. The farmers, he says, are generally prosperous, and he finds evidences of depression in the manufacturing districts only.

That there is some depression in those districts is admitted. It is testified to by the consumption of steam coal, which is not quite what it was a year ago, at least in the west. It no doubt was the intelligent recognition of this fact which induced the 50,000 men working in the Kansas, Arkansas, Texas, Indian territory, and western Missouri coal mines to vote last week in favor of the 5 per cent wage reduction asked for by the operators. It is curious that the coal miners, who have always been looked on as a rather ignorant class of workers, should show this year a degree of economic knowledge as to the inevitable effect of dull times on wages which has not been displayed by other workers who ought to be equally well informed.

While there is much evidence of comparative business depression there are also signs of an improvement. The gross postal receipts for July of the fifty largest postoffices showed a gain of 4 per cent, as compared with July, 1903. The Chicago receipts increased 7 per cent. Notwithstanding the duller times there stood to the credit of the depositors in the savings banks of the state of New York July1 last $54,672,000 more than there did a year previous. That would be a creditable record even for flush times.

CONVICT MADE SCHOOL BOOKS.

The law under which the state penal institutions are now operating provides that no products of prison labor shall be sold in the open market, and that that labor shall be employed in making articles required by the state or any of its political divisions. The law says that no articles manufactured by the convicts shall be bought from any other source by the state or any of its political divisions unless the board of prison industries shall certify that they cannot be furnished upon requisition.

If any of the books used in the public schools of the state, Chicago included, can be, and are, made with prison labor, school officials are compelled to buy them, no matter how distasteful that may be to school book trusts. Whether any such books can be got out in the prisons is a question of fact. Warden Murphy says it can be done, but he has not specified the books he wishes to furnish.

Some of the men who have to do with the management of public schools in this county profess to be horrified by the warden's plan. They are hysterical over it. One of them asks "how would the parent like the child to know that his book was printed by a murderer, trimmed by a burglar, and bound by a horsethief?" Probably it would not disturb parents at all. He says: "From the sentimental side of the question the atmosphere of the prison would be carried into every home. Public sentiment will never approve of the idea." There is the law. Do educators propose to nullify it because it does not jibe with their sentimental ideas?

Probably if the prison authorities attempt to make school furniture there will be an outcry against the contaminating influence of desks made by sneak thieves and chairs which are the handiwork of pickpockets. Criminal impulses will pass from the convicts to the senseless wood, and from it to the school children.

Does this protesting in regard to school books mean that wherever the officials of penal institutions turn to find a market for the products of prison labor they will meet with a rebuff on sentimental grounds? Will they be told that the inmates of the deaf and dumb and blind asylums and other charitable institutions should not be defiled by wearing, or sleeping, or sitting on goods made by murderers and burglars? The men who have had contracts for supplying the articles which can be made with prison labor will do all they can to swell the tide of sentimental tommyrot.

Is the new plan of prison labor to be a failure because all who should use its products grow emotional and protest against touching them?

WHAT TWO SEA BATTLES TEACH.

What is the lesson of the two recent sea fights in the far east? This first: To shoot straight.

Straight shooting is the best defense, as well as the best offense, for the warship.

A shot that hits from a five inch gun is worth more than a hundred—or a million—shots that miss from a twelve inch gun.

The battle of Santiago, according to Admiral Schley, was at 1,000 yards. But the battle of Aug. 10, when Togo wiped out the fighting value of the Russians, was apparently at two or three miles. Togo's gunners could hit fairly often at that distance. The Russian gunners could not.

It is therefore plain that naval gunners must learn to shoot straight not only at short distances but also at long distances. The way to learn to do this is to practice at targets.

If any money spent on warships is wise, money saved on target practice is foolish.

CANADA AND AMERICAN TRUSTS.

Joseph Chamberlain, when speaking of the "dumping" of American and German goods in England, asked his hearers if they were content "to take it lying down." Apparently Englishmen are content. At least they are doing nothing to stop the "dumping." The Canadians are more to Mr. Chamberlain's heart. There are various things which they will not "take lying down." They have elaborated the plan described a few weeks ago for protecting some of their industries against what they call the underhanded practices of American manufacturers who sell goods in the dominion for much less than in the United States. Now comes a project for curbing an American trust which is aiming at the conquest of Canada.

The trust is the American Tobacco company, which is putting in operation in Canada the tactics which have been so successful in the United States. It has already secured most of the cigaret trade in the dominion. Retail dealers who will not bind themselves to use exclusively the goods of the trust are undersold and driven out of trade. The independent manufacturers find it difficult to live.

The dominion parliament has passed a law which permits the revocation of internal revenue licenses held by concerns that sell goods on condition that the purchasers shall not handle like goods made by other manufacturers. The trust has organized a Canadian company which has established numerous branch stores. The minute it is proved that the company is making exclusive contracts with dealers its licenses to do business will be revoked and it will be obliged to go out of business or to change its methods.

The Canadians believe that the strict enforcement of the law will compel the American Tobacco company to abandon its unfair system of competing with the home manufacturers. Perhaps it will. It may be that if the secretary of the treasury or the commissioner of internal revenue had authority to put a stop to the sales of any manufacturer of cigars, cigarets, or plug tobacco who required American purchasers to agree that they would buy from nobody else, the tobacco trust would not have the monopoly it holds. Independent manufacturers would begin business and would find a market for their goods.

If the Canadian experiment works well Americans may be tempted to imitate it. The "exclusive contract" is one of the favorite instruments of many would-be monopolists.

IRRIGATION IN THE WEST.

There is a movement from America to the virgin fields of Canada and Mexico which it is claimed should be diverted to the irrigable lands of the west. Colorado, Nevada, Utah, and other states have land in abundance for settlers, but irrigation is necessary before the land is available for cultivation.

The work of reclamation is a matter of several years, and the government as a rule is slower than private enterprise. Moreover, there is not so large a proportion of government land in the proposed irrigation districts as was supposed. Of the 80,000 acres in the proposed Gunnison river tunnel district fully 60,000 acres are private land. It is difficult to secure the coöperation of all the private landholders for the reason that the pro rata cost per acre, estimated by the government at $25, is considered by many to be higher than necessary. There is a disposition to regard private enterprise as more economical and hence preferable.

The owners of the lands have not sufficient capital to attempt irrigation. In order to attract outside capital the states of Colorado, Nebraska, Washington, Idaho, Oregon, and California have passed laws authorizing the creation of irrigation districts analogous to school districts, and the people under certain restrictions may vote bonds which are a lien on the real estate within the district. The proceeds of the bonds can be used for buying an irrigation system already built or for constructing a new one.

So far it has been impossible to sell these bonds in any quantity, the reason being that the value of the arid land before irrigation is so small that it does not equal the cost of the irrigation works. Land worth $5 an acre is often worth $100 after $25 in irrigation improvements have been applied, but it is difficult to persuade capital to take the $5 as security for the outlay of $25. It has been educated in quite the opposite direction.

One reason that capital is timid about this new class of investments is the lack of scientific and official data on the subject of irrigation. It would seem as if the states or the government might make surveys of natural irrigation districts and furnish scientific information which would place this class of enterprise beyond the stage of conjecture. Capital is glad to advance the funds necessary for erecting buildings after it has seen the proposed site and examined the architect's plans. Something analogous might be done in the work of irrigation.

INDORSE THE TRIBUNE EDITORIAL.

Chicago, Aug. 13.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Your editorial on our candidates in this morning's issue is probably the most unprejudiced, logical, clear, and clean exposition of the accomplishments, ability, and characteristics of the two presidential candidates ever put in words. I am a democrat, but have been reading THE TRIBUNE for over twenty years because it is the best newspaper published in this or any other country. In discussing men and measures today you simply have capped the climax of your career. Your position is impregnable. That's all.

ELMER E. SMITH.

Chicago, Aug. 13.—[Editor of The Tribune.] THE TRIBUNE is always right, hence the able editorial indorsing Roosevelt and Fairbanks. The wide influence of THE TRIBUNE will be felt for the right in this campaign. The reasons you give are unanswerable, the victory of Roosevelt and Fairbanks certain. The country will respond by indorsing an American president of the American people.

FRANKLIN JEWITT.

Chicago, Aug. 13.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—I have just read your editorial about Theodore Roosevelt in today's issue. Allow me to suggest that you make a document out of it for campaign purposes. It is so clear, so complete, so truthful, and so vigorous that I feel sure it would do much good. I do not believe anything else will be written during the campaign that will equal it. It abounds in facts that need to be sent to lukewarm republicans and to reasonable democrats.

LETTER OF MARQUISE DE FONTENOY

Copyright: 1904: By the Marquise de Fontenoy.

ANOTHER grand old English country seat of much historic interest has come into the market. For Chartley hall, the ancestral home of the earl of Ferrers, after having been offered for rent, is now about to be put up for sale by public auction. Chartley is a fine old place, which remains much what it was in the time of the Plantagenets. The house of Shirley, of which Lord Ferrers is the chief, traces its descent in an unbroken line from the time of King Edward the Confessor, and has been established throughout all these many hundred years at Chartley.

The castle, now in ruins, dates from the year 1200, but Chartley hall, close by, is an old timbered building, still encircled by its moat, containing apartments which Mary Queen of Scots occupied for some years. It is on record that she rode and hawked in the primeval park by which the hall is surrounded, and even in her day the white wild cattle of Chartley were accounted of ancient descent. Indeed, of their origin nothing is known beyond the tradition that they were driven into the park from the vicinage of Needwood during the reign of King Henry III. The cattle are of a dull cream color, their horns, muzzles, and ears being tipped with black, and they have presented so picturesque an appearance that it is a pity that owing to interbreeding they have become almost extinct. In fact, the Chartley herd of wild cattle may be said to be perishing of unmitigated antiquity, and there are only a few heads of it left.

There are only three other herds of wild cattle in the united kingdom, the best known perhaps being that of the earl of Tankerville at Chillingham, in Northumberland, the present Lord Tankerville being married to an American woman, who was Miss Van Marter of Tacoma, Wash. The duke of Hamilton likewise has a herd of wild cattle, while on the continent the best known, perhaps, is that of the czar, on his great sporting estate near the Polish border.

It was the fourth Earl Ferrers who was hung in May, 1760, for the murder of his steward, a man of the name of Harold. The earl, who killed the man in the most cold blooded fashion, was tried by his peers in the house of lords and found guilty unanimously, the sentence of death being pronounced upon him by Lord High Chancellor Henley, who presided at the trial as lord high steward. The earl was allowed to drive to the gallows in his own state carriage, drawn by six horses, which was followed by a hearse and six; and it is on record that the rope with which he was hanged was of silk instead of hemp, this concession being due to his rank. Indeed, the silk rope used on that occasion was still in existence towards the middle of the last century, forming part of a celebrated collection of ropes used for purposes of capital punishment.

It was at the execution of Lord Ferrers at Tyburn that the drop was used for the first time in the place of the old cart and ladder. The drop, it is reported, did not work well. It is on record that the earl's toes touched the ground, and that he "suffered a little, having time to raise the cap, and the executioner pulled it down again, and then they pulled his legs, so that he was soon out of pain and quite dead in four minutes." In fact, the experiences of the unfortunate earl led to the adoption of what is known as the "long drop" in lieu of the short one.

There is only one other member of the house of lords who within the last 200 years has suffered death as a felon—namely: the earl of Castlehaven, described by his contemporaries as "the wicked husband of the wickedest woman in the world."

Old Count Ernest Waldstein, who has just died at the age of 83, is a lineal descendant of that Gen. Wallenstein who played so grand a rôle and who was perhaps the most conspicuous figure in the thirty years war, and whose career has furnished the theme of so many tragedies and poems, as well as of Schiller's most notable work. It is at the château of Dux, the country seat in Bohemia of the old nobleman who has just been gathered to his fathers, that his ancestor, the famous general, was born, and where he resided during the brief intervals of peace; and it is there, too, that are preserved as relics the cuirass, the doublet, and the blood stained lace ruff which he wore at the time when he was assassinated in such a cowardly manner by the direction of Emperor Ferdinand.

This great hero's real name was Waldstein, and although it figures in history and poetry and in the drama as "Wallenstein," yet the descendants have always styled themselves counts and countesses of Waldstein. They constitute a family, not of one but of many tragedies, and among those which occur to me at this moment are the death of Count John Waldstein, who was killed about six years ago out in India by a tiger; Countess George Waldstein, daughter of the celebrated Princess Pauline Metternich, who committed suicide, and Count George Waldstein, who met with his death by violence in the park around the château of Dux in a manner never explained, but which is understood to have been in a duel fought with a young cavalry officer without witnesses.

The suicide of the young countess, who was a great favorite in Viennese society, created a great sensation at the time. Nobody ever quite understood her marriage. Born on the banks of the Seine during the time her father was ambassador at the court of Emperor Napoleon III., she combined the high breeding of an Austrian aristocrat with the refined elegance of a Parisienne, while Count George Waldstein was a coarse, sullen, and brutal fellow, a notorious drunkard and debauchee, who was so ignorant that he was scarcely able to read or write. But then, of course, his immense wealth and vast territorial possessions rendered him a prominent figure in the old world aristocracy, and in the eyes of some mothers a most desirable matrimonial parti.

The young countess' married life was much akin to a martyrdom, and one evening when there was a grand dinner party about to be given at Dux in honor of the later Count Wurmbrandt, then minister of commerce, the young hostess failed to put in an appearance. On her husband going upstairs to curse her for being so late, all the guests being assembled, he found her fully dressed, arrayed in all her jewels, and seated in front of her dressing table, stark dead, her eyes wide open, and her pretty face distorted by the effects of the poison which she had swallowed, the empty bottle which had contained it lying beside her on the floor. In Vienna the story went that she had committed suicide owing to an unfortunate "affaire de cœur" with a handsome young cavalry officer of noble birth, forced by the loss of his fortune to quit the army, and whom Count Waldstein, realizing his own incompetency and ignorance, engaged to supervise and manage his extensive estates.

The young officer is understood to have been subsequently killed by the count in the duel in which, as stated above, he, the count, received the wound to which he eventually succumbed. And it is said that the time which had intervened between the suicide of the countess and the death of her husband had been spent by the latter partly in a state of dementia due to alcoholic excesses and partly in devising means of venting his bitter hatred for his own relatives and those of his wife.

When his will was opened it was found that this degenerate descendant of the great Wallenstein had left his estates, not to his plebeian born mother nor to his relatives, but in equal shares to the city of Vienna and to certain subordinate gamekeepers and overseers who had been his boon companions in his drinking bouts. Of course his kinsfolk immediately took steps to have the will set aside, and in their efforts to show that he had been irresponsible, through drink and profligacy, and therefore incompetent to make a valid will, no one manifested a greater degree of virulence against him or drew a more terrible picture of his savagery and vice than his own mother. She was a woman of humble birth, the daughter of a gamekeeper, and had lived with her son's father for a number of years before becoming his wife.

The lawsuit in connection with the will became in every sense of the word a cause célèbre, cardinals, princes, and nobles of every degree being called upon to testify. Indeed, the public was treated to an unprecedented view of the skeletons that occupy the cupboards of so many of the houses of the old aristocracy of Europe. I need hardly add that the proceedings resulted in the annulment of the will.

Glad Days in Indiana.

[It is reported that Chairman Taggart will engage Indiana writers to furnish the campaign literature for the democratic party.]

Now, every loyal Hoosier from New Albany to Whiting
Is at his best and busiest when he's engaged in writing;
Likewise the cultured Richmondite and speedy Terry Hutter
Is gladdest when with pen in hand he makes the language sputter;
The loads of literary lights from London to Loogootee
Are ready, with their pencils sharp, for Taggart's call to duty.

The tragic dramatists who do blank verses at Winona
Are figuring upon a Democratic Desdemona
If they may but collaborate with those at Monticello
Who have evolved a plot with a Republican Othello;
In Attica there is a rush for writing apparatus—
The population to a man has the divine afflatus.

The magazines will soon complain of a poetic famine
Because the Indiana bards have bent the knee to mammon.
From Evansville to Crooked Creek, from Perryville to Hector
Each poet now aspires to be a Davis rhyme collector,
He blends the issues in the most ingenuous iambics
And blasts the opposition with his daring dithyrambics.

Well may the enemy in fright grow tremulous and pallid,
For it must face the rubaiyyat, the madrigal and ballad;
The sonneteers in search of themes are waxing apoplectic
In envy of the easy tasks of poets dialectic—
No poet in all Hoosierdom this fall will be a laggart
But one and all will strike the lyre—and also strike Tom Taggart.

NEWS OF THE THEATERS.

Ravinia park, the new north shore amusement resort just completed for the Chicago and Milwaukee Electric railway, was opened last night with a presentation of "Vivian's Papas" by Blanche Ring and the company from Powers' theater. The play was given in the park theater and attended by society folk in large number from north shore suburbs. It will be repeated this evening.

The park occupies forty acres of land just south of Highland Park. Its principal buildings are the theater, seating 1,100 persons, a casino, and a stadium, where a program of athletic events will be given daily during the season. Vaudeville programs also will be given daily in the theater after today until Oct. 1, with matinée Wednesday and Friday. Thereafter the theater will be open two nights a week.

Boxholders at the theater last night were Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Alexander of Highland Park, Col. S. R. Whithall of Fort Sheridan, Gardiner Van Ness of Chicago, and F. W. Cushing of Irving Park.

The Four Mortons painted the brightest spot on the Chicago opera house bill yesterday. They have a way with them and that counts for nearly everything in vaudeville. The elder members of the quartet continue to do a turn of Irish song and dance, while the younger pair fling their heels in a more juvenile though not a livelier fashion.

The balance of the week's program at the theater is one of fair average, without anything remarkable about any one of the acts. Caron and Herbert, the one time athletic and knockabout marvels of the circuit, are once more on view. They have not changed their act in the least respect in five years, and that is a length of time that tells even before the constantly changing audiences of a vaudeville theater. The performance, however, earned considerable applause—and well earned—for the pair worked hard. So much cleverness, one would think, might be linked with some originality.

Another old acquaintance of the evening was George Monroe, who is about as unobjectionable as any man in skirts and a sorrel wig can be. He jigged, sang, and spouted Irish dialect.

Theresa Dorgeval, whom the program named as a "French opera prima donna," sang three selections in French. The audience made no pretense of understanding the words, but it liked the singer's well trained voice and applauded heartily. Among the other entertainers were Morrissey and Rich, a pair of rapid fire conversationalists, and Deronda and Green, club swingers.

Elsie Janis easily won the favor of the audience at Cleveland's theater yesterday afternoon by her impersonations of well known actors and actresses. On the program Miss Janis is termed "the American Cissy Loftus"—with more right, at least, than in the case of several who have sought to wear that ambitious title.

When Miss Loftus appeared at the Masonic Temple Roof garden five years ago in an imitation of the late Dan Daly Chicago bowed down to her. Miss Janis yesterday brought Daly back to life again—voice, walk, and mannerisms—and then gave an excellent imitation of Eddie Foy. When a young and pretty woman does not hesitate to screw up her face to look like Foy it alone should win her applause. Miss Janis did not drop her impersonation with expression, but delivered Foy's queer, cracked voice in a song, "I'm a Poor, Unhappy Maid." Her other impersonations included Anna Held, Marie Dressler, and David Warfield.

Odette Tyler, supported by Robert Hickman and James Spottswood, is presenting a playlet entitled "The Maid, the Mouse, and the Man." It is not a vehicle which allows Miss Tyler to show her ability, having a clumsy, impossible plot.

Of the others on the bill Charley Case delivered a monologue, some of which was new and much of which was old. Johnny Barker gave several good imitations of Denman Thompson in "The Old Homestead," and Yorke and Adams appeared in the same Hebrew sketch they gave last week.

Charles Richman is to be Amelia Bingham's leading man during her two weeks' engagement at Powers' theater, beginning next Sunday night.

A special orchestral program has been arranged for the reunion of the Sons of St. George, Sweet Briar, Lincoln, and Laburnan lodges to be held at the Bismarck garden tomorrow evening.

Absolutely New.

[From the New York Times.]

Secretary Shaw told a story the other day of a small boy at a country Christmas tree party who found a pair of trousers on the tree for him. He examined the garment carefully, and, turning to his mother, shouted:

"O, mamma, those pants must be all new. Papa never had a suit like that."

Liaoyang in the Midst of War.

Russia's Military Base in the Far East a Medley of Strange Contrasts and Curious Scenes.

[BY CHARLES E. HANDS.]

LIAOYANG, Manchuria, June 15.—Liaoyang, and at last—delightful, almost incredible discovery—visible, unmistakable signs of war!

The station is full of trains and bustle and soldiers and baggage. It has only one platform, but many sets of rails, and on both sides the full stream of the traffic has overflowed its banks and trickled out upon the plain in sidings. At the single long platform a long Red Cross train halts on its way north.

A long, long train of neat hospital cars filled with wounded. Calm faced nurses pass by the communication gangways from carriage to carriage, and young doctors, grave and earnest of manner, are seen in consultation. Out upon the platform a cluster of soldiers from one of the trains halted on its way to the fighting line are peering over one another's shoulders with an air of intense, personal interest, at a little group of wounded officers who are being photographed.

Shows Luxury of War.

War! And yet, for all its wounds, this train of victims hardly strikes the note. Its well ordered look, its sun blinds and filters, the even lines and regular intervals with which in each car ward the two tiers of stretcher beds are set, the white pillows and the folded linen, the gray neatness of the nurses, with their red cross brassards and their quiet, kind eyes, the cool comfort of the striped cotton hospital clothes in the blazing sunshine, the smooth set of the well laid bandages—all this suggests not the horrid barbarity of war, but the luxury and refinement of a highly organized society.

Grimmer Features of War.

But there is no such air about the trains standing on the other rails waiting their turns to go south. The open trucks laden with guns, the big horse wagons, the trucks of ammunition carts, the trucks filled with pontoons and other engineering appliances, the heavily laden cars of all sorts of stores, but, above all, the cars and cars and cars—covered box cars—whose cargoes are the square jawed, short nosed, sturdy Siberian soldiers—these tell of war. On the further side of the lines there is a row of booths like a fair, where the Chinaman is making his speedy fortune by selling all sorts of rubbishy food and other wares to the passing soldiers.

Between Liaoyang and Fighting.

Outside the railway station, away to the right, a distinct mountain marks the beginning of the series of hills which lie between Liaoyang and the fighting to the south. On the west no mountains, but a flat alluvial plain, every visible square inch of it cultivated like a nursery garden, stretches smoothly away to the horizon, beyond which the broad Liao stretches its impassable barrier.

To the northward, again no mountains—only the long Liao valley through which a low embankment, like a single upturned furrow, holds up the railway line above the muds and the floods of the soon coming rainy season. Little culverts innumerable intersect it, and here and there considerable bridges where watercourses and rivers coming from the hills to the eastward make their way across the valley to the Liao.

The watercourses are dry now, but the stones and bowlders that strew the deep channels show the force with which the waters rush down from the mountain sides.

Liaoyang is an ancient Manchurian city, with a Russian official suburb of gray brick detached houses, built in a sort of barrack square by the railway station. Into one corner of the square a couple of railway sidings run, housing two well appointed trains—the residence conveyances of Gen. Kouropatkin and the Grand Duke Boris.

Gen. Kouropatkin Himself.

One of the larger houses in the square has a couple of sentry boxes and a boarded walk in front. The sentries bring their rifles to the salute, there is a clank of spurred boots, and out strides a man in a general's uniform, with a bearded, resolute face.

War! I feel that I can no longer complain of the remoteness of war when I can look round and see the figure of Gen. Kouropatkin himself—the personification of war.

Between the official suburb and the river moat which runs under the high wall of the city is the Liaoyang pagoda, an elongated dome of stone, with the upper half curiously serrated. It was erected as a memorial of the expulsion of the Coreans from Manchuria; a trifle the worse for wear now, as it well may be, when two other nations are struggling for the country, and the conquerors of the Coreans are doing the coolie work for them both.

The city, Manchuria's ancient capital, is full of life and decay—the kind of teeming life that is the product of decay. The city wall—it marks an irregular square about a mile each way—is the only feature that suggests solidity and stability. On each side a gate, through which the road makes painful zigzags, gives, or obstructs, entrance and exit.

The practical Russians, who have much transport work to do in and through the city, have found these gates insufficient for their needs, so they have simplified the problem by knocking great breaches in the wall at convenient points, with the result that the place has a sort of suggestion of an old theater that is trying to arrange its exits according to the requirements of the ordinance.

Liaoyang Dirty and Squalid.

Narrow streets, squalid booths and hovels, unspeakable filth, and stench, and dust, teeming life all flooded in sunshine—that is Liaoyang. The Chinese seem to be hatched like flies by the sunshine out of the decay of their country.

Through the long central street a supply train is making its slow and painful way, the heavy wheels of the lumbering Chinese carts cutting deep into the crumbling earth. Soldiers everywhere; through every compound gateway the sight of soldiers billeted; at every booth front and before every street vender's stall a group of the thick set, big boned, heavy jawed, good humored Siberian soldier.

Where the Officers Meet.

The social center of Liaoyang in the daytime is the big buffet dining room down at the railway station. This is the club and the news exchange. Here old friends meet after many years. Brought from far distant parts of the empire by the occasion of the war—from the Caucasus, from Finland, from lonely Siberian towns—men who have not seen each other since they fought side by side in the Turkish war now meet again as veterans, throw great arms around one another's burly figures, and cover one another's bearded faces with the kisses of Russian comradeship.

Here they exchange their news and views about the war. They know surprisingly little about the course of events, but they make up for the scantiness of their news by the confidence of their opinions. A busy place day and night here, for every train that passes on its way south fills it anew, and night and day trains are always in the stations.

At night there is another gathering place—in the walled inclosure around the pagoda, which an enterprising Greek has converted into a sort of beer garden. Here a band plays sometimes, and officers meet at the little tables, and such women as the population includes chat gayly with their friends.

Kouropatkin to the Front.

But across the wagon covered space where the pyramids of stores are piled comes a sudden burst of timed military cheering. It comes from the barrack square of official houses, too. What can it mean? Some momentous announcement—perhaps the news of a decisive Japanese defeat.

The band stops, the officers spring to their feet. The cheering breaks out again in well ordered military regularity. Then the [illegible] a confused roar of individual spontaneous cheering.

"What does it all mean?" I ask.

"Our friends the Japanese will soon find out," an officer tells me in French; "it is Kouropatkin himself who goes down there to the front."

Not in Demand.

One of the city's best known piano teachers met the other day a younger colleague and inquired how he was getting on.

"O, I'm doing well," answered the young man. "I have some lessons for which I receive $1 and other lessons at $2. I'm doing quite well."

"But haven't you lessons for which you receive more than $2?" asked his friend, who was anxious to see him succeed.

"O, yes, indeed," was the reply of the young teacher. "I have some lessons at as much as $5. But nobody seems to want to take them."

ANGRY MOB HELD AT BAY BY BOY.

Says Union Tried to Keep Him from Collecting Wages Due for Work.

ECHO OF JEWELRY THEFT

Dealers, Pawnbrokers, and Money Lenders Asked to Assist in Recovery of Gems.

NEW YORK BUREAU CHICAGO TRIBUNE }
New York, Aug. 15. }

Fired Into a Mob from Platform.

After holding a crowd of pursuers at bay from the platform of an elevated railroad station, following an alleged assault upon another workman, emptying his revolver into the mob and trying to escape on a train, Joseph Costello, 16 years old, a bricklayer's apprentice, was taken to a police station today, guarded by a squad of reserves with drawn revolvers.

Behind surged the crowd which had chased him, demanding that he be lynched.

Costello, who is not attached to a labor union, had been employed on a new building up to last week, when the union workmen demanded his discharge, and the contractor dismissed him. He claimed that a sum of money was due him from the contractor, and that every time he went after it the union men drove him away. Today when he again appeared at the building and started for the contractor's office Thomas McLaughlin, he says, stood in his way.

Costello says that McLaughlin knocked him down. He then shot at McLaughlin.

As the boy ran down the street he turned and fired another shot, and before the pursuers again took up the chase he had dashed up the stairs to an elevated railway station. There he turned, and as the mob surged to the foot of the stairs he emptied three chambers of the revolver directly into the crowd. No one was hit, however.

Brooding over disgrace due to charges of treachery, James Curran, a silversmith and a veteran of the Boer army, has committed suicide in his Brooklyn lodgings. When the war broke out he was at work in the Kimberley mines. He raised a company of scouts. This company was successful for a time, but in a skirmish before Ladysmith the whole company was wiped out or captured. He was accused of having led his men into a trap.

Police Have Another Gem Mystery.

Detectives are working on another big jewelry robbery, according to circulars received today by jewelers, pawnbrokers, and money lenders in New York and other large cities. The value of the missing articles is not nearly so great as in the Goelet case. The report of the theft, however, is similar to that sent out in the Goelet case in that no information is given as to the person robbed, nor is any reward offered for the arrest and conviction of the thieves.

The circular says that all advances made on the jewels described will be refunded and a reasonable compensation paid for any trouble that may be necessary. The jewelry was stolen July 7 of this year. On that date the safe of the Clark estate, at Cooperstown, was robbed of valuable jewels and private papers. F. Ambrose Clark, the son of Mrs. Henry Codman Potter, married Florence L. Stokes. At the time of the Cooperstown robbery it was reported that some of young Mrs. Clark's jewels had been taken.

Two Killed, Sixteen Hurt, in an Elevator.

Two men were killed and sixteen others received painful injuries in an elevator accident in the ten story building at 270 Mercer street today. The accident was caused by heavy counterweights breaking from their fastenings and falling from the top of the shaft on to a freight elevator on the ground floor, in which were about a score of people. Most of those injured received severe scalp wounds, caused by débris and the breaking of the roof of the car, which was smashed to fragments by the immense counterweights, which weigh more than a ton each. The elevator operator and the superintendent of the building were arrested.

Between 600 and 800 men employed by the George A. Fuller Construction company today joined the ranks of the striking building trades workers. Four unions were affected, including the artificial marble workers, stonecutters, marble workers, and mosaic workers.

Sculptor's Wife Disappears with Child.

Mystery attaches to the disappearance of Mrs. Clark Noble, wife of a well known sculptor, who left her home in Weehawken, N. J., last Saturday morning, taking her little girl with her. She departed without any money or extra clothing for herself or her daughter. No reason is known why she should leave her home. Noble said tonight that his married life had been happy, that there had been no disputes between himself and his wife. He said his wife was in the best of health. He could in no way account for her disappearance.

Fire in a four story business building in Howard street, in the heart of the wholesale district today, resulted in one death and caused damage estimated at $75,000.

Gunboat Dubuque Launched at Morris Heights.

The United States gunboat Dubuque was successfully launched today at Morris Heights. It was christened by Miss Margaret Treadway of Dubuque, Ia. On the first attempt which Miss Treadway made to break the bottle of champagne over the vessel's bow it did not smash. After the boat had been towed around to a dock, however, the young woman broke the bottle and said the words completing the ceremony.

OFFICER HUNTS BALL PLAYER.

Jack Powell of Griffith's Team Wanted for Saloon Bill, but Escapes to St. Louis.

Jack Powell, pitcher for the New York American league baseball team, scored a narrow victory over a constable on Saturday. The baseball player departed for St. Louis in time to avoid the seizure of his salary.

Mrs. Margaret Reardon, proprietor of a saloon at Jackson boulevard and Morgan street, asserts she has a bill for $46 against Powell for liquors and other supplies. A writ of attachment was issued by Justice Caverly, but too late. A garnishment writ of attachment was then served on Manager Griffith of the baseball club, but he refused to accept it.

Now the constable threatens to secure an execution upon the club and its manager.

Girl Drowned in Delavan Lake.

RENA DE GRIES.

Rena de Gries, 22 years old, 211 Frankfort street, who was drowned in Delavan lake, Wis., Saturday morning had been spending a week's vacation at the summer resort and was to have returned home on the evening of the day she met her death. With a party of friends she went for a sail when a gust of wind capsized the boat. All of the party were rescued except Miss de Gries, who sank before assistance could reach her. Her body was recovered Sunday and was sent to Chicago for burial. She was a dressmaker, and with a sister helped to support her aged father.

IRISH AT RIVAL PICNICS.

TWO PARTIES OF CELTS HAVE OUTINGS ON SAME DAY.

United Societies Go to Brand's Park and Nationalists and Clan-na-Gael Guards Throng Ogden's Grove—Ancient Customs Revived, with Old Time Dances—Sympathy for Russia Declared in Resolutions—Say Land Act Is Successful—Want Home Rule.

Chicago's Irish population had a busy day yesterday. Rival picnics claimed their attention, each representing "the only true Irish patriotism." At Brand's park, Belmont and California avenues, the demonstration of the United Irish Societies of Chicago and Cook county was continued from Sunday. At Ogden's Grove, Clybourn avenue and Willow street, the Irish Nationalists and United Clan-Na-Gael guards held their celebration.

Both parks held large crowds. Bands played, fakers shouted their wares, and breakdowns, jigs, and round dances followed one another in rapid succession.

Old Customs Are Revived.

Several ancient customs were revived. President James A. Hogan of the United societies showed the good condition of crops in Ireland this year by mowing a little grass and tieing it into a sheaf. A long tailed coat hung on a tree, an invitation to the young men to put it on and show their fighting ability. The first one to step on the tails had to fight the wearer. Several good natured bouts took place.

The dancing floor at Brand's park was cleared in the evening, and Conor O'Kelly, M. P., told of the bright prospect for the Irish.

State Sympathy for Russia.

Resolutions touching the following points were read by Attorney M. Emmet Clare and adopted:

> The efforts of the American press to influence sympathy for Japan in the present war are deprecated. We do not believe there is a sufficient preponderance of right on the side of Japan to warrant this. Russia always has been our consistent friend.
>
> English landlordism must be done away with in Ireland.
>
> The land act has been successful.
>
> The attempt to decrease Irish representation in Westminster is condemned as an act of an unscrupulous politician.
>
> Healthy conditions of Irish emigration must come through raising the standard of living in Ireland.
>
> Home rule for Ireland.

Other speakers were P. T. Barry and John F. Finerty.

At the Nationalists' picnic Maj. John McBride of the Transvaal Irish brigade was not able to speak. The Rev. Thomas E. Judge, editor of the Roman Catholic Review of Reviews, delivered the address of the day.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

New Auto Speed Device.—Mayor Harrison, City Electrician Ellicott, Ald. Race of the Thirty-fifth ward, and William M. Thomas, an Austin inventor, will investigate this afternoon a machine invented by Mr. Thomas to regulate the speed of automobiles. It is claimed for the machine by Thomas that when attached to an automobile and a speed limit set that if the automobile should exceed that speed a whistle would blow, attracting the attention of citizens and the police for blocks around.

Writes Book on Hairy Men.—"The Ainu Group" is the title of a book just prepared for publication by Prof. Frederick Starr of the University of Chicago. Prof. Starr relates adventures of his trip to the orient to secure several of the hairy people for exhibition at the St. Louis exposition. He also sets forth his theory that the Ainus were the aborigines, and that they and their conquerors, the Japanese, have been the only inhabitants of Japan.

Evanston May Have New School.—Advocates of the proposition to build a new school in Evanston were partly successful last evening at a meeting in the city hall. A vote of 63 to 36 in favor of the project was taken. As a result of last night's vote the school board will be asked to hold another election, the third for this purpose.

Will Remove River Dams.—To remove the cause of damage to property owners from overflow President Carter yesterday announced the drainage board would take two federal dams from the Illinois river and have two state dams lowered. The board may double the capacity of the Lawrence avenue pumping station.

Seek Mail Order Men.—Postoffice inspectors are seeking George V. Healey and others, said to be connected with the United States Game and Novelty company, 225 Dearborn street. It is alleged they advertised lawn swings for $1 and sent 500 mail order purchasers toy swings two feet high.

Robbed Under "L" Structure.—George O'Hara, Huntington, Ind., was held up early yesterday morning by two men under the Metropolitan elevated structure at Adams street. He was robbed of $7 and his watch.

VETERANS GREET CHICAGO'S POSTS.

Members of G. A. R. and Visitors Show Attention to Illinoisans in Boston.

WOMEN BOOM MISS SINE.

Ex-Confederates Break Bread with Former Opponents of Civil War Days.

Boston, Mass., Aug. 15.—[Special.]—Hundreds of thousands of spectators cheered veteran sailors and ex-prisoners of war in the parade today. Double the number will applaud 30,000 members of the Grand Army of the Republic in the parade tomorrow. Several were overcome by heat while watching the parade. Four Chicago posts, Grant, Thomas, Lyon, and Custer, came in early today with a veteran fife and drum corps. The latter serenaded the newspaper offices tonight and received much attention. The four posts will march tomorrow in the parade and will be headed by the drum corps. Many other Illinois veterans are here, and 1,500 all told will be in the parade. The Illinois department headquarters were opened at the Vendome today by Department Commander Robert M. Wood.

Mrs. Nellie McGowan of Chicago, president of the Illinois department, Woman's Relief corps, opened headquarters at the Vendome. She arrived this morning with 150 members. All are booming Miss Julia G. Sine of Illinois for national senior vice president.

Gen. Black Is Busy.

Gen. John C. Black is the busiest man in the city at the national G. A. R. headquarters. The labor is shared by Charles H. McConnell of Chicago, chief of staff. Adj. Gen. Charles A. Partridge of Chicago also actively assists Gen. Black. A pleasant feature at national headquarters today was the commissioning of John Black von Egmont Vrooman of Chicago colonel on the staff of his grandfather, Gen. Black.

Lieut. Gov. John C. Smith, commander of Grant post, Chicago, has received an invitation from Grant post, Melrose, Mass., for Chicagoans to be guests of the Melrose post and Mrs. Mary A. Livermore at Melrose one day this week, and accepted. Other Chicago posts will be entertained by local veterans.

Mrs. Virginia A. McCline, president of the ladies' G. A. R., is here. Mrs. Pauline Creighton of Illinois will be appointed to the committee on constitution of the ladies' aid society and Mrs. Madge H. Coe member of the resolution committee.

Reception to Ex-Confederates.

One of the striking features of the day was a reception which Gov. Bates held in honor of a party of distinguished southerners, all ex-confederate officers, who are attending the encampment. Capt. Edward S. Gay of Atlanta, Ga., responded for the confederates, expressing the deep gratification that exists through the south at the friendly act of a northern Grand Army post (Edward W. Kinsley, No. 13, of Boston) in inviting himself and comrades to come and break bread with them during the encampment.

A dinner to confederate officers was given at Faneuil hall this evening.

Col. Charles H. Taylor of Boston, who was toastmaster, said it was worth all the "gold brick" the Philippine islands had cost to see reunited by means of the Spanish-American war the people of the north and south. Gen. John C. Black and others dwelt on the spirit of union between north and south.

Women Give Reception.

Another social event of the day was the reception in Pierce hall, given by the women of the John Adams chapter of the D. A. R., to Gen. Black, commander in chief of the G. A. R.; Mrs. Sarah Winans, president of the W. R. C., and Mrs. Belinda Bailey, president of the women of the G. A. R.

The union ex-prisoners of war defeated a motion asking the United States to issue a special medal of honor to all who had been in southern prisons, and voted almost unanimously to petition the next congress to pass a bill providing that every prisoner of war be paid $2 for each day he was in prison. The ex-prisoners elected the following officers:

Commander in chief—Col. J. B. Walker, Pittsburg, Pa.
Senior vice commander—John Kissain, Cincinnati.
Junior vice commander—John L. Parker, Lynn, Mass.
Chaplain—The Rev. J. C. Ferguson, Keokuk, Ia.

The United States cruiser Chicago was placed in commission today at the Charlestown navyyard in the presence of about 2,000 Grand army men and visitors. Commander Edwin K. Moore will command the vessel.

Pythians Open Conclave.

Louisville, Ky., Aug. 15.—The formal transfer of Camp Marion E. Taylor from the local executive committee, which has placed it in readiness, to the Knights of Pythias, for whom it was prepared, marked the formal opening of this organization's biennial conclave of 1904. The exercises occurred at 4 o'clock in the presence of about 10,000 people. Tonight the electric decorations in the business district were set ablaze, to the delight of the thousands who thronged the streets.

SAYS MISSING MAN CONFESSED.

Prosecutor Declares in Court That Simon Implicated Attorney O'Donnell in Jury Bribing.

An alleged confession of Cyrus S. Simon, the missing witness for the state in the trial of Attorney Patrick H. O'Donnell on a charge of jury bribing, was outlined yesterday by Assistant State's Attorney Barnes in a motion to have the trial continued until the September term. The motion, hotly contested, was granted by Judge Brentano.

Mr. Barnes in an affidavit states the prosecution relies on Simon to prove the following facts, implicating O'Donnell in the conspiracy to bribe justice court jurors in favor of the Union Traction company:

> That on the day a change of venue was taken from Justice Gibbons in the "transfer cases," O'Donnell was in conference with "Bill" Gallagher, who was sent to the penitentiary for procuring "fixed" jurors.
>
> That within a week before the trial, O'Donnell conferred with Gallagher, Simon, and Constable Jones with reference to keeping the "fixed" jurors in the Revere house and designating them to constables by means of pins placed in their coat lapels.
>
> That O'Donnell frequently consulted Simon concerning the alleged jury bribery, and after the trial congratulated Jones on the "good material" secured for the jury.

Simon is reported to be in Colorado Springs, ostensibly for his health. Homer Michaels, foreman of the "pin brigade" jury, also is missing.

OBSTACLE TO LOWER TUNNEL.

Engineers Find That Sinking of the La Salle Street Bore May Interfere with Water Conduit.

An almost forgotten water tunnel may interfere with the lowering of the La Salle street traffic tunnel. City Engineer Ericson and Special Engineer George Jackson consulted over the situation yesterday, and last night had not found a way out of the trouble.

Years ago, before the La Salle street tunnel was built, this conduit was laid to carry water from the Chicago avenue pumping works into the business district. It is seven feet in diameter, and its top is fifty-two feet down.

When the engineers began to plan for sinking the tunnel it was discovered the bottom would be only a few feet from the top of the conduit. Most of the strength of the water tunnel comes from the encircling clay, and to remove this would weaken it so much that an artificial geyser might start.

VOLNEY W. FOSTER DIES.

SUCCUMBS TO A SUDDEN ATTACK OF APOPLEXY.

Is Stricken at Stock Exchange Building After Luncheon with H. H. Gross and Though Hurried to Hospital Never Rallies—Was Planning to Devote His Energies to His National Arbitration Measure—Active in Many Business Interests.

Volney W. Foster died suddenly yesterday afternoon in St. Luke's hospital following an attack of apoplexy, with which he had been stricken in the Stock Exchange building a half hour before.

Mr. Foster had been about his business in his usual health all the morning and at noon had gone to the office of H. H. Gross in the Stock Exchange building to attend a conference on a mining deal.

Shortly after 1 o'clock Mr. Gross and Mr. Foster descended to the restaurant in the basement of the building for luncheon. Mr. Foster ate a hearty meal and was feeling in the best of spirits when he and his companion arose to go at 2 o'clock. On the stairway leading to the street Mr. Foster suddenly stumbled, and would have fallen but for the assistance of Mr. Gross.

To Hotel, Then to Hospital.

Once on the pavement, Mr. Foster nearly swooned. Mr. Gross hailed a friend who was passing in an automobile, and the sick man was taken to the Auditorium Annex, where Dr. J. D. Hammond diagnosed the attack as apoplexy and ordered him hurried to the nearest hospital.

On the way to St. Luke's Mr. Foster lost consciousness and died at 2:35 o'clock, only a few minutes after the hospital was reached. Albert Volney Foster had been summoned from the Annex and arrived shortly before the death of his father.

Volney William Foster was one of the city's most successful business men, and one whose originality impressed itself enduringly upon the life of Chicago. Death took him in his 57th year, and just as he was looking forward to the development of his scheme for the establishment of a national arbitration tribunal for the settling of strikes and all labor difficulties.

Mr. Foster spent most of last winter in Washington working for the bill providing for such a tribunal which he had caused to be introduced into congress. This bill provided for a commission to be appointed by the president which should sit in Washington perpetually for the hearing of labor troubles.

He was assisted in his enterprise by Senator Hanna, and the bill was advanced to a position where it was assured of the fullest consideration at the next session of congress. Mr. Foster returned from Washington resolved to put his business affairs in such shape that he could give all his time to furthering the bill next winter.

Active in Many Interests.

Mr. Foster's deep interest in the future relations of the American republics led to his appointment by President McKinley as a commissioner to the Pan-American congress in the City of Mexico in 1901. He advanced the projects for an international educational bureau of sanitation and an international archaeological and ethnological association. He was also intrusted with the task of reorganizing the bureau of American republics. He was a member of the International Peace society.

In 1887 Mr. Foster organized the Sheridan Road association dedicated to the creation of a lake shore drive between Chicago and Milwaukee. He lived to see thirty-five of the eighty-five miles completed. For years he was a leader in the movement which resulted in 1895 the passage of the small parks bill.

Mr. Foster was a democrat till 1896, when he voted for McKinley, as he did also in 1900. He was preparing to take an active part in the republican campaign this year. In 1901 he was president of the Union League club.

Evanston has many instances of his activity. He gave the town its squirrels and a carload of California pheasants. The smart appearance of Evanston cabmen today is due to the efforts of Mr. Foster, who gave prizes several years ago to encourage the regeneration of the appearance of the station jehus. He was the originator of the "Back Lot Studies society."

Born on Farm; Taught School.

Mr. Foster was born on a farm near Jefferson, Wis., on Feb. 27, 1848. He was educated at Milton college and taught school a number of years. After a short residence at Manitowoc he came to Chicago in 1871 and found employment with the Northwestern railway. In 1874 he went into the lumber business in Chatham, Ont., but returned to Chicago in 1879. In 1883 he organized the Western Paving and Supply company, which till 1898 did a large asphalt paving business. In 1901 he organized a bonded warehouse business with E. C. Creel of Chihuahua, Mex., and was vice president of the concern.

In addition to his other interests Mr. Foster was president of the United States Repair and Guaranty company, the United States Silica company, the Chicago, Waukegan and North Shore railway company, and the Chicago, Kenosha and Milwaukee Electric railway company. He was reputed to be worth about $500,000.

In 1876 Mr. Foster married Miss Eva A. Hill of Brockport, N. Y. She died in 1887. He is survived by two children, Albert Volney Foster, vice president of the North Shore Gas company, and Mrs. Walter L. Righter of Bryn Mawr, Pa.

The funeral service will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from St. Mark's Episcopal church, Evanston. The Rev. Arthur W. Little, rector of the church, will officiate.

REVOKES LICENSE OF SIM WINEMAN.

Mayor Orders Sale of Liquor in the Wabash Avenue Resort Stopped.

FOUND OPEN AT 2 A. M.

Reports That Women Were Smoking Cigarets in the Place at That Hour.

"Sim" Wineman has lost his license to conduct the "Illinois café." The mayor revoked it yesterday and added a postscript to the revocation, indicating that the license would not be renewed. It was shown that not only had Wineman been selling liquor at the Wabash avenue resort after 1 o'clock in the morning but he had been inviting the all night trade, and his customers were not such as would be desired by a saloonkeeper who was looking for respectable patronage.

The evidence presented to the mayor was conclusive. It also shed a strong side light on the doings on "the levee" after the average citizen has gone to bed. It came in two reports. One was volunteered by a man named J. J. O'Hern, who wrote the mayor, saying he had gone into Wineman's place, at 244 Wabash avenue, after 1 o'clock one morning and was told by the bartender if he wanted drink he must go upstairs.

Smoking Cigarets at 2 A. M.

"There," said the writer, "I found twelve women and about twenty-five men, some of the women smoking cigarets. A waiter came in and said he had a telephone message that there were more coming."

Then the mayor started to investigate. He sent Policeman Stephen Muchowski to look at the place, and Muchowski reported that, in company with a woman friend, he had visited Wineman's at 2 o'clock in the morning. He was sent to the second floor, and his description of matters there exceeded O'Hern's.

"There were fifteen women and about twenty-five men there," wrote Muchowski, "and they were all drinking and some of them merry. There were two girls under 17 years old smoking cigarets, and there were no indications of the place ever closing up."

Double Prices Charged.

The room was nominally a restaurant, reported Muchowski, "but it was only so in name. You could not get anything hot to eat, only canned goods, and they charged double prices for them." In proof of this last assertion the report went on to say that Muchowski had ordered two bottles of beer, a drink of whisky, a lobster, and some crackers.

"They charged me $2 for it," said the indignant policeman.

Wineman's place, styled the "Illinois café," was originally fixed up by "Charley" Barber and Proprietor Sebree of the Hotels Morrison and Saratoga. It was reported to be a losing venture and Wineman took charge.

Last evening the place was open, but only non-alcoholic drinks were sold.

SAY POLICEMAN IS PERJURER.

State's Lawyers Make Charge Against Patrolman Michael Kennedy in "Mother" Krey Case.

Policeman Michael Kennedy of the Harrison street station is threatened with arrest on a charge of perjury as a result of his evidence yesterday in the case of "Mother" Krey before Judge Honoré in the criminal court.

The woman, who is said to have conducted a resort in Peoria street, is charged with harboring girls under age. Assistant State's Attorneys Furthman and Newcomer say Kennedy told them the woman had denied the girls were in her place. This statement the policeman denied on the stand.

Another incident of the trial was the appearance in the courtroom of a stranger who bowed to the jurors. He left the courtroom immediately, however, and when the bailiffs called the attention of the judge to the incident the man could not be found.

BIG BARGE STRIKES BRIDGE.

Bridgetender Critically Injured When Hit by Timber Broken in Crash with Boat.

The large grain barge Iowa yesterday afternoon crashed into the Halsted street bridge and critically injured the bridgetender, Joseph Dillon.

A sudden shifting of the boat caused it to strike the bridge supports with a noise heard for blocks. When Dillon was reached he was unconscious. At the Alexian Brothers' hospital it was found his skull had been fractured by flying timber. He lived on the bridge.

Both boat and bridge easily can be repaired.

White Sox Beat Boston, and Share Lead with New York Highlanders.

SMITH A GREAT PITCHER.

Youngster Is Cool at Critical Stages; Is Given Fine Support.

In a spectacular and brilliant game, with more than 8,000 fans "pulling" for victory, Comiskey's White Stockings drove a nail into the pennant aspirations of the world's champions at the south side grounds yesterday and gained revenge for the defeat at the hands of Boston on Sunday. The count at the end of the conflict was 3 to 2, but the margin by which the contest was won was big enough to knock Collins' men out of first place. At the same hour those leechlike Highlanders of New York trimmed the browns again at St. Louis and refused to drop out of the tie with the Sox.

While the victory of the White Sox can be credited to more than one, it was the brilliant pitching of Frank Smith that in the end enabled Comiskey's men to win the game. Smith was opposed to Dineen and the two had a battle royal all the way, but, if anything, the local youngster was on top of his opponent. It was Smith's ability to get out of tight places that kept the crowd on edge. Incidentally it was the pitcher himself who always dug the holes from which he had to climb out. But there were others who figured to a large extent in the victory. The great support accorded the youngster was good enough to land almost any game.

Collins' Error Costs a Run.

The fielding of Manager Jones, Green, and, in fact, almost every man on the team, made the contest a perfect one from Chicago's standpoint, while the only mistake of the game fell to Manager Collins, who failed to hold the ball on a throw to nail a man at third, which gave the Sox their second run. The spectacular catch of the contest was made by Jones, when in the fourth inning he pulled down a hard smash from Collins' bat after a hard run far out in center and a dive in the air. That was only one of the brilliant catches, for Callahan, Dundon, and others snuffed out the hopes of the "champs" on several occasions.

The Sox got just five safe ones off Dineen, the same number as the visitors punched out of Smith, but when Manager Jones' crowd did poke the leather it was at the right time and runs resulted.

Sheridan and Green Clash.

Umpire Sheridan had a few hard decisions put up to him, none of which went in the direction of the Sox, and as the result of one of them the "ump" and Danny Green came together. Danny declared it wasn't a strike, and Sheridan figured the best way to win the argument was to bench Green, which he did. "Ducky" Holmes then took "D.'s" place in right.

Smith started off badly. Selbach walked and was forced at second on Parent's terrific rap at Smith, which almost tore the pitcher's hand off. A passed ball let Parent reach second, and a wild pitch let him score. Smith passed Stahl, but fast work by Dundon cut off the next man. Green opened up for the Sox with a double to the fence in right. Jones sacrificed him a notch, and then Callahan walked. Davis' out scored Green.

Sox Go to the Front.

Jones' men forged into the lead in the third. Smith singled and was sacrificed to second by Green. Jones hit a bounder at Dineen, who threw to Collins to nail Smith at third, but the manager dropped the ball. Smith scored a moment later on Callahan's fly to Stahl. The third run came in the sixth, when, after two were gone, Tannehill walloped out a double and scored on a single by Isbell.

After threatening several times to send men across the plate Boston finally got going again in the ninth. Collins pumped out a single for a starter and went to second on an out. Lachance popped-up a foul to Isbell and then Ferris knocked a few boards off the fence in right with a double, scoring Collins. But that ended it, for Farrell, who batted for Criger, could only hit a little grounder down to Tannehill and he was a "goner." Score:

Notes of the White Sox Game.

Smith held the visitors down to three hits for eight innings.

Davis was easy for Dineen and struck out three times in a row.

That smash of Parent at Smith in the first inning almost put the pitcher out of business, but he stuck to his task and won out.

Boston again today and tomorrow. The game tomorrow will be started at 3 o'clock in order to allow the Boston team to catch a train.

Smith pulled himself out of a bad place in the seventh, when, with men on second and third and only one out, he struck out Criger and Dineen flied to Holmes.

Green was put out of the game so quickly hardly anybody knew that he was "canned." It occurred while Danny was batting in the fifth inning. Dineen pitched a low one close to Green's knees, and Sheridan called it a strike. Green started to argue the question and the umpire stopped the argument.

NEW YORK DEFEATS ST. LOUIS.

Chesbro's Pitching Puzzles the Home Team, Seven of the Side Striking Out—Score Is Three to One.

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 15.—Chesbro's clever pitching completely baffled the St. Louis club here today. He allowed the locals only five hits, and struck out seven of them. A throw by Heidrick in the eighth inning, cutting Anderson off at the home plate, was the feature of the game. Ganzel, injured at first, was succeeded by Anderson. Score:

PULLIAM SUSPENDS THREE MEN

Kelley of Cincinnati Is Laid Off Indefinitely and McGann and Harper for Three Days.

New York, Aug. 15.—President Pulliam of the National league has suspended McGann of New York and Harper of Cincinnati for three days for disputing with the umpire last week, and Manager Kelley of Cincinnati has been laid off indefinitely.

Cincinnati, O., Aug. 15.—[Special.]—President Hermann of the Cincinnati club was much surprised to hear that President Pulliam of the National league had indefinitely suspended Manager Kelley of the reds. "I do not care to make an official statement," said Mr. Hermann, "until I hear from Mr. Pulliam, and incidentally from Kelley. I want it understood I do not propose to uphold rowdy ball or protect those who play it. At the same time, though, I am going to stand by my men and want to hear both sides before making any decision."

STAGG IS STILL A SICK MAN.

Chicago Coach Goes to Colorado Today—May Not Be Able to Coach Football Men.

Coach Stagg of the University of Chicago is a sick man, but is to continue in his endeavor to regain health. Just home from Kremer, Ind., where he has been resting, he finds no improvement, and will leave today or tomorrow for Colorado Springs, Colo. For three weeks the maroon coach has been enjoying a vacation, and returned to the campus last week, apparently much improved. The heat proved too much for him, and the western trip was accordingly planned.

The director of athletics at the south side school has not been well since his severe illness at the close of the last football season. Following that attack he passed some time in Arizona, but was back at the university in time for the winter meets. This desire to do too much is the cause of his condition, say his physician and friends. The Colorado vacation will of necessity be short, because of approaching football.

Students and faculty members alike think the continued illness of Coach Stagg at this time may prove disastrous to the hopes of a championship team at the Midway. They fear that he will not be able to direct the early season practice. However, the maroon coach declares he will be on hand to welcome the first of the incoming freshmen.

Athletes at Marshall Field.

The first trial of a race measured in meters was held yesterday, when Rice and Blair ran a sixty meter dash. Coach Stagg, timekeeper and judge, declared it a dead heat in seven seconds flat.

Oxley, broad jumper at Yale, appeared as a candidate for the squad yesterday, and "Bobby" Maxwell, the husky maroon, declares he will be on hand today to meet Rose, in the fifty-six pound weight event.

Tommie Peebles, quarter miler at the University of Illinois, joined the C. A. A. squad yesterday at Marshall field. Peebles will not run the 440 yard event, but will try one of the jumps. He has a record of thirty-three feet for three standing jumps.

The sudden decision of Coach Stagg to take another vacation has added another recruit to the team of Trainer Butler. Victor S. Rice will now represent the cherry circle, and not the University of Chicago, as had been the intention of the maroon coach. This will probably add at least two championships to the total of the C. A. A., if Rice is up to his conference form.

Morehead Defeats Kinsley.

M. K. Morehead defeated Carl Kinsley in four sets yesterday at the University of Chicago campus. Morehead's victory gives him the championship in singles for the summer tournament. He won his sets, 7—5, 1—6, 6—0, 6—3.

GARDNER DEFEATS JEFFORDS.

Latter Makes a Poor Showing in Bout at Butte—Lasts but Three Rounds.

Butte, Mont., Aug. 15.—[Special.]—George Gardner knocked out Jim Jeffords in the third round of a fight scheduled for twenty rounds before the Montana Athletic club at the Broadway theater tonight.

Jeffords weighed twenty-five pounds heavier than Gardner, but wasn't in the fight for a minute. He made the worst dub appearance ever witnessed in a Butte ring. Gardner landed on Jeffords as he pleased and early in the third round knocked him down three times in quick succession with rights on the jaw. The last jolt put him out of business. Jeffords made no showing at any time.

A preliminary between Jerry McCarthy and Mose Lafontise was a fast and furious affair for ten rounds and gave the big crowd something for their money. McCarthy got the decision.

Bowlers Elect Officers.

The Monroe Bowling league held its first meeting last night and elected the following officers: August Lipman, president; Albert Edward Wood, vice president; Harry A. Kiene, secretary; Louis A. Bensinger, treasurer. The league this year will be composed of sixteen teams and fourteen of these have already been secured. If the full number is obtained the prize list will be $1,000. Play will begin Sept. 19. Another meeting will be held Aug. 25.

COLTS WINNERS OVER PHILLIES.

Selee's Men Trim Quaker Team in Final Game of Series, 3 to 2.

LUNDGREN IN GOOD FORM.

Former Illinois University Pitcher Holds Game Safe—Sutthoff Relieved by Fraser.

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 15.—[Special.]—The Colts won the final game of the Philadelphia series this afternoon by a score of 3 to 2, making four victories out of the five games played. The finish was close and the Phillies had two chances in the last three innings to tie the score, but the effective work of Lundgren in one case shut off all avenues for the local men to score, and in the other dumb plays proved the undoing of the Phillies.

Both runs scored by the locals were the result of errors on the part of Barry, who tried to fill in at Tinker's position at shortstop. Barry was the only Colt charged with a misplay, but Slagle and McCarthy came near losing the game by colliding in the outfield while after Wolverton's fly, which was an easy chance for either one of them. The Phillies had three errors, Wolverton, Donohue, and Sutthoff being the guilty players.

Jack Sutthoff was in the box for the Phillies for eight innings and then Fraser took a hand in the fray to try and help out. Lundgren struck out six batters and held the opposition down to seven hits and only one to an inning.

The Phillies started out in the second with a lead of two runs. McGee waited for a pass and reached second on Gleason's bunt. Mitchell then advanced both runners on a sacrifice, but Roth struck out, and it began to look dark for any count. Donohue's sharp grounder was handled clumsily by Barry and McGee tallied. Donohue and Gleason then started the double steal act and the "Kid" scored before Evers, Chance, and Barry had managed to touch Donohue between first and second.

Capt. Chance had an opportunity to tie up the score in the third and took advantage of it. Slagle was down and Casey had reached first on a pass when Chance tripled and Casey scored. McCarthy helped Chance to score with a drive into center field.

The winning run was brought in by Jones in the fourth after he reached third base on a wild throw by Wolverton. Barry scored him from third with a smash into left. Score:

CHICAGO CENTRALS FAVORITES.

Are Expected to Win the Basketball Championship at the World's Fair Stadium.

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 15.—[Special.]—Six games of the tournament for the basketball championship of the Y. M. C. As. of the United States and Canada were played at the world's fair stadium today, and in the majority of them the scores were close.

Judging from the work of the teams the championship rests between the Chicago Central team and the Sioux City team. Chicago won the second prize in the Olympic championship last month, and has been picked to win the Y. M. C. A. championship, as its strongest opponent in the Olympic tournament, the Buffalo team, is not contesting.

Six games are scheduled for tomorrow, and if the Chicagos and Iowans win both games the result will be a tie, and the final will be played on Wednesday.

The only game in which a one sided score resulted was Chicago vs. Cincinnati in the morning. The score was 79 to 33. The Chicago team clearly outpointed the Cincinnati team in passing and team work, while the losers resorted more to roughing it and received the small end of the score.

The scores today were: Morning—Denver, 39; Joplin, Mo., 34. Sioux City, 42; Hamilton, Ont., 32. Chicago Central, 79; Cincinnati, 33. Afternoon—Sioux City, 53; Denver, 30. Cincinnati, 43; Joplin, 28. Chicago Central, 37; Hamilton, Ont., 22.

The games scheduled for tomorrow morning, beginning at 9:30 o'clock, will be Joplin vs. Sioux City; Denver vs. Chicago; Hamilton vs. Cincinnati. The afternoon games will be Joplin vs. Chicago; Denver vs. Hamilton; Sioux City vs. Cincinnati.

GOLF PLAY BEGINS TODAY

WESTERN AMATEUR CHAMPIONSHIPS AT EXMOOR LINKS.

Additional Names Make the Total Number of Entries Ninety-seven, with the Possibility of Still a Few Others Arriving—Thirty-three Clubs to Be Represented in the Tournament—Iowa Champion Ferguson Makes a Fine Score in Practice.

Six additional entries received yesterday by Secretary George A. Carpenter brought the total received for the western amateur championship to ninety-seven, and, as several are expected from St. Louis, the total is expected to be over the century mark.

The new entries were: C. E. Willard of Homewood; Fred W. Hulme, Normandie Park, St. Louis; D. E. Sawyer, Wheaton Golf club; Walter Fairbanks, Denver Country club; L. T. Boyd, Milwaukee Country club; E. J. Buchan, Racine.

In all thirty-three of the sixty-one clubs in the Western Golf association will be represented, and, with a few exceptions, the most notable of which is E. M. Byers of Pittsburg, the field is representative of the best golf talent of the west.

All that is needed to make the tournament a success is good weather, as the Exmoor course is in prime condition and the club officials have worked energetically to make the temporary arrangements necessitated by the fire.

Play is scheduled to begin at 8 o'clock, when W. F. Pillsbury of Onwentsia and Frank E. Weber of Toledo will make the initial drives.

The qualifying round is at thirty-six holes, thirty-two to qualify, and if all of the pairs are started on time the first men should be able to begin their second round soon after 12 o'clock.

Scores made yesterday in practice were not particularly low, with the exception of a 76, made by Harry Ferguson of Cedar Rapids, the Iowa champion. This is six strokes under bogey, and is high class golf. His card was as follows:

Out ....4 4 4 4 5 5 4 4 6—40
In ....4 3 4 4 4 4 5 4 4—36—76

H. C. Egan made 81, D. E. Sawyer 82, and D. Cadwallader of Springfield, Ill., 84. Egan's score was made in a four ball match, in which he and Clement Smoot defeated Ray Daniels of Midlothian and Fay Ingalls of Cincinnati, the Harvard champion, 5 up, 4 to play. Bruce Smith defeated Walter Egan, 2 and 1, winning five straight holes after the champion was 2 up with 5 to play. The late entries will be paired as follows: Willard and Hulme, Sawyer and Bigelow, Boyd and Buchan.

Notes of the Tournament.

The tournament is open to the public.

Tom Bendelow will run the tournament.

Ninety should be about the limit to qualify.

Assistant Secretary Colman has done good work in booming the event.

Each contestant will be presented with a badge as a memento of the occasion.

HARNESS NAGS AT THE BEACH.

Dr. Strong Meets Defeat in the Sea Breeze Stakes—Fast Pace by Hetty G.

New York, Aug. 15.—The grand circuit meeting at Brighton Beach began today under favorable auspices. The weather was perfect, the track fast, and 6,000 spectators enjoyed the sport, which was sensational from first to last.

The $5,000 Sea Breeze stake resulted in the defeat of the favorite, Dr. Strong. In the first heat Consuela S. won, but the second still found Dr. Strong the choice and he won out. A bad break in the third and deciding heat lost the favorite the race and gave it to Consuela S.

The Coney Island stake of $2,000 for 3 year olds brought out a good field of six, with Princess Athel the choice at 50 to 30. The Princess won in straight heats.

The 2:05 pace, the last of the day, was one of the best contested. Hetty G. sold at $50 to $35 for the field, and at the word she started out to win, with Nathan Straus and Frank Yoakum close up. The quarter was passed in :30¼, the half in 1:01½, and the veteran mare came home in 2:04¼, two lengths in the lead. Summaries:

DETROIT YACHTS TAKE THE HONORS

Ste. Claire Wins Second Race of Lipton Cup Series; Spray Is Second.

LA RITA IS A STARTER.

Peare Is Allowed to Sail After Apologizing for Attack on Price.

The Detroit yachtsmen had an inning yesterday, Ste. Claire, owned by Commodore Walker and sailed by Sydney Russel, taking with ease the second race in the series for the Lipton cup. The Detroit yacht duplicated the feat of Sprite in the first contest, and more, too, as it led most of the way and finished half a mile ahead of Spray, also of Detroit, which was the second boat to cross the line. Mendota of Milwaukee was third, with Sprite, Yo San, La Rita, Pilot, Ventura, and Hoosier finishing in the order named.

The series has thrown three yachts into a tie for first place so far, and today's race may not decide it. Percentages give Sprite, Mendota, and Ste. Claire each 166.7, the others being as follows: Yo San, 133.4; La Rita, 100; Spray, 122.2; Ventura, 66.6; Hoosier, 33.3; and Pilot, 33.3.

La Rita a Competitor.

La Rita took part in the race despite the decision of the Columbia club regatta committee Saturday night to bar the boat because of George R. Peare's assault upon Commodore Price. Owner Peare at first declared he intended to act upon his rights and would carry the matter to the courts if necessary. Yachtsmen who denounced Peare's action were inclined to believe the owner of La Rita could not be barred under the conditions governing the Lipton cup gift. All argument, however, was stopped by Owner Peare's action yesterday forenoon in sending a letter of apology to Commodore Price and the Columbia club members. This was accepted and the matter is said to have ended amicably.

At the start of the race La Rita was one of the two boats which were badly left and this led to a report that the action was intentional, but as a matter of fact it was due to a misunderstanding of the starting signal upon the part of the crews of both La Rita and Sprite.

Mendota Is First Away.

The course was to windward and leeward, the wind being steady and strong from the southwest. Mendota was the first away and had a good lead, but Ste. Claire, by the good work of its crew, drew up and was only five seconds behind at the first turn. Yo San, Spray, and Ventura were well up, and all turned within a few seconds of each other.

The wind was lighter at the end of the course, and on the beat back slow time was made, all the yachts seeming to carry too little canvas with the exception of Sprite, which spread whole sail. Yo San hustled to weather of the fleet, standing well out into the lake on the first tacks and losing by it, as there was more wind near shore. The crew shook out a reef and the boat then footed faster.

Ste. Claire Takes Lead.

Ste. Claire took the lead from Mendota soon after starting to windward, and crossed the bows of the Milwaukee craft and went to weather of it. Spray cut down the lead of Ste. Claire and Spray began to get Mendota which had dropped behind, while Sprite crept up on Yo San and became a contender. Mendota, one-half mile from the stake, crossed Spray's bows after coming about on starboard tack. Ste. Claire, which had a big lead, rounded on the port tack and, breaking out spinnaker and balloon jib, ran down the wind like a tugboat and opened a gap which the rest could not close. Mendota and Yo San bore down on the buoy together, but Sprite, coming fast, nosed both out and went around first. The trick was a clever one and the spectators cheered.

Ste. Claire's tremendous lead was increased to a good half mile at the third turn, with Mendota, Yo San, Spray, and Sprite in a bunch fighting it out for second place. Mendota rounded the stakeboat at the end of the first leg of the second round in the lead, with Yo San leading the other two. Here, however, Cuthbert on Sprite ran close to the stakeboat and beat the others around.

Spray Passes Yo San.

The positions changed going down to the finish, Spray passing Yo San, Mendota, and Sprite, while La Rita moved up to sixth place. The wind hauled more to the west and made a reach of the last of the leg, which helped Ste. Claire to win easily, the rest being strung out.

Probably the most creditable performances in the race were by Sprite and La Rita, the first named mistaking the starting gun for the preparatory signal and being several minutes from the line when the rest started. With this handicap the Pinckard yacht caught the fleet and finished fourth. La Rita also was the victim of a badly mismanaged start and did not get away until the others seemed hopelessly in the lead, but sailed a remarkable race and came in ahead of Pilot, Ventura, and Hoosier. Summaries:

	First leg.	Second leg.	Third leg.	Finish.
Ste. Claire	2:54:25	2:40:00	4:04:00	4:55:30
Spray	2:54:50	3:44:20	4:08:45	4:58:02
Mendota	2:54:20	3:43:48	4:09:01	4:59:50
Sprite	2:56:05	3:43:40	4:09:00	5:00:32
Yo San	2:54:40	3:43:44	4:06:25	5:02:02
La Rita	3:05:15	3:50:00	4:13:30	5:03:39
Pilot	2:55:50	3:48:05	4:11:50	5:04:32
Ventura	2:55:00	3:50:15	4:14:50	5:11:20
Hoosier	2:56:40		4:41:30	5:15:00

Notes of the Race.

"Nat" Cook fell overboard from Yo San, but was rescued by another member of the crew.

The final contest will take place this afternoon at 2:30. The course will be quadrangular, three miles to the leg and once around.

No end of confusion has arisen over the two races sailed on Saturday and yesterday, the judges and regatta committee being met with a storm of protests from the owners because the starts were not properly made. On Saturday the course was not properly logged, and in addition the yachts were sent away wrong and technically the boats did not start at all under the rules. Yesterday the judges transferred their flag to the yacht Winyah without notifying the skippers, and a grand mixup followed, the boat not getting out to the starting line in time and Sprite and La Rita getting the worst of it. Pinckard and Peare protested, but Peare's protest was not considered, as he was late in leaving his moorings. Pinckard's protest was sustained, and, as Saturday's race had also been protested, it was at first decided to throw out both races and begin over, but this proposition raised such a howl from the majority that the judges at last reversed their decision and decided to let the two races stand as they were.

Rebo, the odds on favorite, jumped into the lead at the start, but Commodore clung to him, and before the five-eighths pole was reached had raced him into submission, then he came on and won by three lengths from J. P. Mayberry, which beat Evening Star half a length for the place. Track fast. Summary:

TALBOT COLT A WINNER.

PRINCE SILVERWINGS CAPTURES THE SPECULATION STAKES.

Feature Event on the Reopening of Hawthorne Results in the Downfall of the Corrigan Entry, Clifton Forge and McGee—Knapp Puts Up an Ineffectual Ride—Weird Is First in the Steeplechase—Close Finish in the Sprint.

Prince Silverwings, the outsider in the betting, won the Speculation stakes, Hawthorne's feature, yesterday. Interest in the race was somewhat marred because of the scratching of Princess Tulane, Bombardier, Dalvay, and Beau Ormonde, leaving but three to contest.

Ed Corrigan, however, added McGee, which, with Clifton Forge, gave him two chances to pull down the money. His pair, judging by the price laid against them, were supposed to have the race at their mercy, but they were disgracefully beaten by the winner and Phil Finch. Silverwings ran an excellent second to Phil Finch in the Oak Park handicap at Harlem on Saturday and was in front at the end of the first mile. Yesterday he was in with ten pounds off, and those with a forty-eight hour memory played him to win and got the money. Aubuchon got him to the front as quickly as possible and kept him there throughout the journey. Phil Finch moved into second place on the backstretch and easily held the Corrigan pair safe.

Has Knapp Lost His Skill?

Clifton Forge finished third, and with a better ride would have been much nearer to the pair that finished before him. Knapp, who it appears has lost his hold, had the mount on Clifton and rode him like a stable hand. He almost choked the life out of him, to begin with, then rode him serpentine fashion after rounding the first turn.

Weird won the steeplechase race off by himself. He eased the minds of his admirers by going to the front at once, took the fences beautifully, and won pulled up to a walk by more than six lengths. Allegiance and Sweet Jane were second and third respectively.

Ida Davis and Sylvia Talbot furnished the best race of the afternoon. The last named led until the last few strides and was nipped on the post by Ida, the latter's winning margin being a short nose.

Notes of the Track.

Dr. Kenney threw his jockey, Mountain, while at the post for the last race.

Hawthorne followed in the wake of Harlem with regard to its seven races a day system.

Freckman was the only favorite to win, while Ida Davis was the longest shot winner.

Jockey Milton Henry was struck in the eye with a clod at Harlem, and will be unable to ride for several days.

Kate Zitt was left at the post in the first race, and John Smulski received much the worst of the start in the last.

Handzarra was backed heavily to win the last race, but she was far from being up to a race, and her owner, F. B. Van Meter, knew it.

Jockey Eggerson was badly injured in the steeplechase. He had the mount on Nitrate, which fell at the ninth obstacle, falling heavily on the boy. When examined by the track physician it was found several of Eggerson's ribs had been injured and probably fractured. Martin Brady, one of the Corrigan entry, also fell and threw his jockey, Sullivan, who was picked up unconscious, but received no serious injury. Trenct the Mere ran out.

Races at Highland Park.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 15.—The annual summer meeting of the Highland Park club will commence tomorrow and continue until Sept. 17. The opening day's card consists of seven races, of which the stake feature is the Frontier, at one mile and a furlong, for 3 year olds, and seven are named to go to the post. Starters Holtman and Dwyer will officiate at the barrier. The judges are Charles F. Price of Louisville and John Morrow of Nashville. Capt. J. W. Price will be the steward representing the Western Jockey club. Besides the Frontier stake, the Michigan, the Highland Park selling, the Royal Oak Farm for 2 year olds, and the International steeplechase are among the stake events during the meeting.

M'CHESNEY MAY BE A "HAS BEEN."

So Says Hildreth, Who Sees the Horse Badly Defeated at Saratoga.

JOCUND IS THE WINNER.

Famous Chestnut Comes in Fourth—Other Results at the "Spa."

Saratoga, N. Y., Aug. 15.—[Special.]—The inglorious defeat of the once famous McChesney in the sixth race today was the theme this afternoon.

His trainer, Frank Taylor, had chosen what every one said was an easy spot for the reappearance of the noted chestnut, but among those entered was John A. Drake's Jocund, and it was from this dangerous stable it was feared McChesney would find his conqueror, if he was destined to be beaten. Not only did Jocund defeat him, but also Dimple, and even the "maiden" Auromaster finished in front of him.

The race was run in 1:39 1-5, not at all a fast rate or even second rate, when the fast track and ideal weather conditions are taken into account. Any selling plater of the class can run a mile in better than 1:40 over the Saratoga course.

Almost from the start those who saw McChesney running in a laborious manner feared he "would not do." Half way along the backstretch his rider, Fuller, was sitting perched up, with his back bent forward, his immovable attitude at this time giving renewed faith to the horse's admirers. But the leaders, Jocund and Dimple, stole away on the far turn McChesney was seen to be still keeping company with Auromaster and Flexion, and the critics began to shout "McChesney will be beaten."

Only a Flash of Speed.

As they neared the turn into the stretch the noted racer showed a flash of his old form, but just as he was making his run Auromaster, on the right, and Dimple just in front of him, formed a pocket. Fuller used his whip on the chestnut's glossy flanks, but the response was not that of old, and the four horses ran past the judges with Jocund two lengths in front of Dimple and she in advance of Auromaster, with McChesney a length behind the third horse. Witchcraft, Flexion, and King of the Valley were the other starters. McChesney was at 1 to 1 in the betting.

"Sam" Hildreth, the former trainer of the horse, who saw the race, said he was much disappointed in the performance of McChesney. He said the horse had worked well and could run a mile in 1:38 over such a fast track. "He may have refused to try," Hildreth said, "or he may be a 'has been.'"

Another incident out of the ordinary was the fact that the fifth race was won by F. R. Hitchcock's filly, Mirthless, who had been left at the post in the third race. She was one of the two seriously hampered by the barrier becoming entangled in Delphi's headstall. The latter was actually pulled by the barrier. Candida went on, with several lengths' advantage, after this, and was never headed, while the weak favorite, Saraphine, managed to save second money after a hard struggle with Fleur de Marie. The stewards awaited the return of the starter before confirming the result. They asked the starter if the start was legal, and when he answered in the affirmative the red board was hoisted. There is a provision in the rules which permits the starter to recall the horses when there is an accident.

Household Hints.

BY ADA M. KRECKER.

The Business Woman—

Ought to, firstly, buy her daily street costume, consisting of a well fitted skirt and a well fitted coat. This, with a half dozen washable blouses and one or two silk ones, will see her through nearly all her occasions.

For out of business hours she will find a black silk the best of friends, if made with a handsome skirt and two waists, one high for theater and reception wear, and the other low cut for evening wear. This gown will prove of much comfort and service.

Thirdly, a smart tea gown or negligee is a "sine qua non" for the evening at home. It is a great mistake even to wear the street costume in the house, and if the street dress is taken off as soon as one comes in and is well brushed and hung out in the air for a time it will last twice as long and look twice as fresh every day.

A second street toilet of a more elaborate type has its own particular mission to fulfill and is a good investment if there is more or less occasions for going out, to church, or calling. Generally speaking, however, the one tailor suit, if well chosen, will do the duty of both.

Gloves should be in ample supply, so that a fresh pair is always ready if needed. Some find it no more expensive to have these made to order than to buy them ready made, and get them five and six pairs at a time.

Boots and shoes must be comfortable, but not necessarily numerous. Two pairs will be all that is required if they are carefully chosen, well fitted, and kept in order.

While all things about the toilet, even to ribbons and belt, should be neat and trim there is no necessity for much money going into trifles. It is a good plan not to buy anything unless needed immediately.

Again, while few women in business can afford the services of a maid, it is not a bad investment to have some woman come in once or twice a month to renew bindings, take up stitches that have dropped, and attend to the verily countless details that ruin the appearance of smart costuming, if they are neglected.

A bank account and an account at some leading shop are two solid comforts to business women—who are supposed to be careful enough not to overrun either. On the contrary, they can be helps to economy of time and money. Running about from shop to shop is something a woman whose days are otherwise occupied cannot do. If she has an account at some reliable house she will generally find what she wants there and will not be enticed into buying ninety-nine articles that ought to be hanging on the walls of the shops instead of in her wardrobe.

The Short Trip—

Is the great recourse of the busy man or woman who often has but a day or a half day in which to go a-holidaying.

Even in this brief period much refreshment can be gained from country or sea shore. One can fill the lungs with pure air fresh from fields or water, have refreshing glimpses of rural or seashore life, enjoy healthy, physical, sleep inducing fatigue, and receive a renewed inspiration for further work.

The great and grand point is to plan wisely for the short holiday, with so and so much time for travel, so much for amusement. Where money and time are both limited a close calculation is required to get the most out of the slight capital.

The trolley car is a delightful boon, its slower rate of speed and the nearness of the pilgrim to the country through which he passes making it more agreeable for short, idle holidays than the railway train. A web of rails connects villages all over the country, so that one can transfer from one to the other and in a half dozen lilliputian trips see many bits of the country absolutely new to him and often of historical, or geographical, or commercial, or personal interest.

Railroad and steamboat companies are likewise to the rescue with prices wondrously contracted for the short tripper's peculiar benefit.

With three days to donate to vacation diversions one may visit almost any spot within a few hundred miles of the city, be shown all the best to be seen, be housed, and travel luxuriously, and be returned home in apple pie order at the appointed hour, and all within enchantingly low rates.

More can be done with a slim purse and slender rations on time than is dreamed of by those who have not tried it, and likewise is more life and freshness thus infused into mind, body, and soul than would be guessed by those who take months for travel and rest.

Peach Liqueur—

Take mellow, full flavored peaches, wash but do not peel, slice, and put in a stone jar, which must be set for six hours in a kettle of boiling water. Cover the peach kernels with brandy and let stand till next day. Strain off the juice from the peaches, taking care not to squeeze the fruit hard enough to make the liquid muddy. Measure the juice and for each pint take a generous pound of the best refined sugar. Put sugar and juice together and let stand until next day, then bring the mixture to a boil, skim thoroughly, and strain it again through a bag of double cheese cloth. When it is cool add to it the brandy in which the kernels have been soaked, putting one pint of spirit to two of sirup. Let it settle, and if not perfectly clear strain again. It ought to be either a clear pink, a bright pale yellow, or a white, according to the fruit used. Use clear glass bottles. Put in the bottom of each half a dozen peach kernels, also a blade of mace, tied to a bit of yellow lemon peel, and a fragment of stick cinnamon. Cork, seal, and keep in a dark place. The liquor improves with age.

Home from Europe—

Has come a young woman who has been doing Italy and had an eye for souvenirs.

She has a chain bracelet, from each link of which swings a gold or silver trinket, picked up in her travels.

A little eagle is the emblem of ancient Rome, as the circle bearing the pax is the emblem of Christian Rome. A Margharita bell is another Roman memento.

A tiny horn of coral, supposed to be a charm against the evil eye, is from Naples; a model of the Strozzi lamp and a fleur de lis, with a tiny angiolino and a diavolino are Florentine.

From Milan is a silver cross, and from Venice a tiny gondola in silver filagree.

Souvenir charms may also be worn on a chatelaine at the belt, or on the watch chains.

HAVE A DOUBLE BEAUTY SHOW.

South Chicago Excursionists Select Miss Blanche Runberg and Peter McNamee as Prize Winners.

South Chicago had a double beauty contest yesterday. It was decided by four men judges that Miss Blanche Runberg, 136 Seventy-eighth street, was the best looking woman among 200 on board the steamer J. C. Suits. Five women decided Peter McNamee, 9116 Exchange avenue, should be given the masculine beauty prize.

"We've just got to kiss you," said Miss [illegible] Ludwig in behalf of the women judges who selected McNamee.

"Yes, we all want to kiss you, just once," added Miss Pauline Hill, Miss Mary Rusnowsky, Miss Libbie Preix, and Mrs. O. Young, the other judges, agreed and McNamee surrendered.

The woman judges, having taken the initiative, the four men who had given Miss Runberg the prize for women started a search for her. She had been warned, however, and was locked in the cabin.

Your Corner.

It is one of our blessings that we need not worriedly think how much more we might amount to if we had something else to do.

What we have to do is divinely appointed for us with a wisdom of our precise best needs as far above our wisdom as the unreadable blue heaven is far above the earth.

We need only see to it that what we see before us to be done is done well, zestfully, faithfully, with the spirit that animates the hero of the melodrama as he wrests his true love from the villain, with the spirit that makes each act a feat, an achievement, an exploit, a coup de grace, a stroke of state.

GARDEN PARTY: Let me congratulate you on having sent in your request early. I do my best with belated questions, but do not always give all that I could if I had more time in which to answer them. Golden rod will be your best flower for decorative purposes at this time, and since it is our national flower, so-called, suppose you have a patriotic party. Drape cheesecloth of red, white, and blue about the halls, receiving rooms, and verandas, hang American flags and buntings about the grounds, and hang red, white, and blue lanterns on the trees. Mass your flowers in the fireplaces and corners of the rooms, and have large pots of them in the verandas and lawn. You and your assistants in receiving can wear white gowns with sashes and bows of the national colors, and stand on the veranda under a national flag, while musicians softly play national airs. Let flags fly from all quarters, and decorate the refreshment tables in red, white, and blue tiny silk flags, American eagles, and Uncle Sam's hats can be used on the name cards and for favors, etc.

Provide outdoor games, like archery, tennis, croquet, a few holes for putting, and a tent with an amateur fortune teller. Serve supper out of doors at little tables at about 6 o'clock, having something like this:

Iced bouillon.
Creamed sweetbreads.
Jellied tongue. Chicken salad. Sandwiches.
Tomatoes stuffed with foie gras.
Ices and cake. Coffee.

Have lemonade and frappé in large punch bowls placed here and there at convenient places about the grounds. Close with dancing to national melodies, adapted as required.

*

C. P. QUENTIN: My sympathies to your daughter and to yourself about the little mark on her face. You say that any reference to hers you think would "kill her." Has she ever had any other trouble to bear? Does she know anything of the deep experiences through which some women pass without being killed? There is no sorrow, or shame, or grief which we ought to meet as she meets hers. If she will frankly and cheerfully meet her trouble she will soon learn to dominate it. Her friends will forget it in their love and admiration for her. If she will be gay hearted and sweet, desirous to please, and self-forgetful, she will not find many persons even thinking of it. Were she to go further and become proud of it, she might, were her personality strong enough, make the rest of the world want similar marks. This is the way fashions are set and ideals are established. Some one has been proud, or vain, or glad of something—so proud, and so vain, and so glad that the world, ever ready to be led, was swayed to follow.

STUDENT: Old Abe was named after President Lincoln, and was an eagle belonging to a western regiment which it accompanied to the field during the war of the rebellion. It was at the centennial exhibition in 1876, where it sat on its perch, silent and inert, quite a forlorn looking bird, like one saddened by experience.

*

JEWEL: A country home wedding about the first of September can be a charming affair if it at all resembles one where the house was made lovely with wild flowers, boughs of blossoms, ferns, and garlands of leaves looped over the doorways and about the walls, while the fireplaces and corners were banked with greens and flowers. Golden rod would be beautifully decorative for your purpose. After the noon ceremony came the breakfast, which was served at small tables spread on a wide piazza which overlooked a most beautiful river. After the breakfast the guests assembled on the lawn and danced around the bride and groom, and finally grouped themselves to have some photographs taken. Then came the departure of the bride and groom, who were escorted to the carriage by the bridemaids, scattering flowers in their way, and finally showering them with flowers, as they seated themselves in the carriage. A sufficient menu is:

NEWS OF THE RAILWAYS.

NEW HEAD OF PERE MARQUETTE ON INSPECTION TOUR.

Russell Harding Stops in Chicago in the Course of His Examination of Lines—Planning Some Extensive Improvements—Increase in East Bound Grain Shipments—Shippers Demand Prompt Action on Proposed Uniform Bill of Lading.

Russell Harding, recently elected president of the Père Marquette and vice president and general manager of the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton railroad, was in the city yesterday. He is on an inspection trip of all lines of the new system. Mr. Harding consented to accept the new position only after he had made a thorough investigation. He has become convinced that the system can be made one of the most profitable in the country.

Mr. Harding will not relinquish his position as vice president and general manager of the Missouri Pacific system until George J. Gould returns from Europe. Mr. Gould is said to have an interest in the new Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton system, and recommended Mr. Harding for the position of chief executive. Mr. Harding has been authorized to spend several million dollars in the improvement of the property. It is said he wishes practically to relay the tracks of the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton proper with heavier steel and to replace the passenger and freight equipment with the finest power that can be procured.

W. H. Newman, president of the New York Central, yesterday was in the city and had a conference with Mr. Harding.

Gain in Grain Shipments.

There was a large gain in east bound grain shipments last week and a slight gain in flour shipments. A large fall and winter business is looked for by the roads. The only discouraging feature, both in the eastern and western situation, is the timidity prevailing among interior buyers in regard to fall purchases. The lateness of the corn crop causes some apprehension.

Railroad traffic in the northwest in the way of merchandise has been curtailed somewhat by crop losses there, but in the south the business is steadily increasing in grains and merchandise.

Shipments last week to the east by the all rail lines were as follows:

	Flour, brls.	Grain, bus.	Provisions, tons.
Last week	59,978	1,398,000	21,373
Previous week	59,596	959,000	16,526
Last year	49,174	776,000	26,000

Shippers Want Prompt Reform.

The American Shippers' association is determined not to become involved in a long series of meetings with the railroad officials regarding the proposed uniform bill of lading. One more effort will be made by the shippers in the official classification territory at a meeting to be held here within the next week or two. If the railroads do not meet their demands they propose to appeal to the interstate commerce commission and if necessary to the courts.

Transportation Notes.

A delegation of Minneapolis millers had a conference here during the day with the traffic officials of eastbound roads, urging the acceptance of their demand that the same rates be charged on flour as on grain, the railroads at present making a higher rate on the former than the latter. The Central Freight association will give the matter due consideration at its meeting here today.

T. E. Calvert, general superintendent of the Burlington at Lincoln, Neb., is to be made consulting engineer of the entire Burlington system with headquarters in Chicago. W. G. Rhodes, assistant superintendent at Lincoln, will succeed Mr. Calvert.

Webb C. Ball has been appointed general time inspector of the Rock Island railroad system, with headquarters at Chicago, in place of J. W. Forsinger.

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS.

MIDSUMMER
—PIANO—
CLEARING SALE.

A remarkable opportunity to secure either a new or slightly used upright.

An exceedingly dull season leaves us with a great surplus of pianos of all grades. Price reductions in many lines will rule during the coming week. Whether you desire a low priced piano or a high grade instrument we are prepared to offer you very special value. A visit of inspection cordially invited.

Also a big bargain room [second floor] full of USED UPRIGHTS.

So many that it is difficult to tell where to begin to enumerate them. A glance shows the following: Four large Knabe uprights; Billings upright, $125; Wheelock upright, $200; Stuyvesant upright, $125; Huntington upright, $165; seven fine Steinway uprights, various prices; Krakauer upright, $280; Russell upright, $150; beautiful Weber upright, $300; Sterling upright, $235; Krakauer upright, $285; Hazelton upright, $295; Fischer upright, $225; three Steinway Baby Grands and two Knabe Baby Grands at remarkably low figures, and many others.

Bear in mind that these figures include overhauling in our own repair shops by workmen of the very highest skill. THIS IS IMPORTANT. The hours spent by a first class workman on a piano of this class may mean all the difference between satisfaction and dissatisfaction. Besides, this does away with the danger of hidden defects. Furthermore, many of the above pianos would readily pass for new.

GOOD PARLOR ORGANS VERY LOW. Choice of 20 different styles from $35 up. Second hand organs from $10 up.

Our regular stock embraces over 600 pianos, including Steinway, Weber, Krakauer, Wheelock, Sterling, Huntington, Stuyvesant, and other great makes. All these different pianos are distinguished by some special feature. The workmanship in each is of a superior character, and every one is of a design approved by the highest standards of public taste.

Exchange certificates, permitting exchange toward any new piano of higher grade, given free with all inexpensive instruments.

EASY PAYMENTS—Pianos may be secured from us on very easy terms. No advance in price when paid for by installments.

Buyers at a distance should write for special bargain list, and also our schedule of freight rates. We ship pianos everywhere.

LYON & HEALY, Wabash-av. and Adams-st.

The business of Lyon & Healy largely exceeds in volume and value that of any other musical establishment in either Europe or America.
We close Saturdays at 1 p. m.

THE CORN CROP NOW IS DAMAGED.

Speculative Excitement Develops in Pit on Report of Injury by Drought.

SHARP TWO CENT BULGE.

Southwest Leads the Buying; Wheat Also Strong on Rust Complaints.

Continued dry weather in the corn belt and an increasing volume of complaints of injury to the crop in the southwest and in this state, and eastward as well, accompanied also by a sharply increased volume of buying orders, made corn the big market of the day. The opening, at which the closing prices of Saturday were barely touched, developed the fact there was little corn on the market, and prices started up under a general and insistent demand, led by the southwest. At advances of about 1c for the May and December, local traders tried hard to bring about a reaction, but the buying continued, the market went on up, and their covering contributed to its further advance. At their best the May and December showed gains of about 2½c, selling at 53⅜c and 52⅞c, respectively, and they closed only ¼c under the top. There was less excitement in the September and less demand for it, and it only gained 1⅜c, closing at 54½c, a premium of only 1c over the December, compared with a premium of 2c on Saturday. There were complaints of corn firing and withering in parts of Indiana and eastern Illinois, and there were a lot of reports from Missouri and Kansas that the dry weather was having a bad effect on the plant, and that the prospect was for not over half a crop. Nebraska also sent reports of damage. There was no rain over Sunday in the corn belt, and the weather forecast gave no promise of any, except the meager one of possible showers in western Kansas. The fear of another dry day and of its effect on prices kept the market firm, even on the sharp advance.

The early buying was led by southwestern houses, Ware-Leland, Spencer, Bennett, Harris-Scotten, and Bartlett-Frazier being big buyers of the May, which was taken also by Comstock, Friedman, and other local operators. Howe added to a long line. There was some buying of September by McReynolds and Armour brokers, but the nearby delivery was helped up mainly by the strength in the December and May. There was a general commission demand from every quarter of the pit, which indicated country buying. There was profit taking also, as well as local selling, but it was on a smaller scale. On 51½c to 52c for May there was selling by some of the early southwestern buyers, but, as the market did not yield to this selling, they took their corn back again, contributing to the later strength. Comstock sold on the bulge. Kansas City was up 2c for the May, a corroboration of the damage claims from that section. Strength in Liverpool, where futures were ⅝d to 1d higher, a reminder of the short fodder crop of Europe, helped start this market up. The shipping demand still fails to follow the strength in futures, cash sales generally being at prices unchanged to ½c higher than on Saturday, although the market closed stronger, shipping sales of 50,000 bu reported. Some houses had good acceptances on their bids to Illinois. The movement, however, is still light, 94 cars in and 191 cars estimated for today. Primary receipts were 203,000 bu, compared with 294,000 bu last year. Clearances were 145,000 bu. Local stocks in store decreased 528,000 bu to 2,058,000 bu. The visible decreased 879,000 bu.

Wheat Close Is Strong.

There seemed to be an effort to break wheat prices early, encouraged by relative weakness in other markets and by extremely heavy receipts in the southwest, 920,000 bu at Kansas City and St. Louis, with total primary receipts nearly double those of last year, at 1,346,000 bu, compared with 697,000 bu last year. But the strength in corn was a decided handicap to these efforts, and bad crop reports began to come in from the Dakotas and from Manitoba which played havoc with them and set the market on fire again, with the result of decided rallies of 2⅝c to 3c from the low points of the day, with closing prices near the top at net gains of 2c for the new September, 2¼c for the old, 2¾c for December and May. Inglis, Russell, and Snow all sent bad reports of the effect of the rust in North Dakota, and there were reports of rust in Manitoba within thirty miles of Winnipeg, accompanied by buying orders, it was said, although other reports from Winnipeg flatly denied all claims of rust damage that side of the border. The opening was strong in spite of an easy Minneapolis curb, and while September sold off 1c from $1.01½ on the appearance of some liquidation at that price, there was a sharp rally in response to the crop news, and while the Minneapolis market lagged behind most of the session it made amends by a strong close, gaining 2⅝c on the September. The early break was expedited by a reported decline of 4c on cash wheat in Duluth. But with the damage reports coming in as fast as though rapid fire guns were bombarding the pit, the cash news had only temporary effect. Duluth cash wheat closed 2⅜c lower for the day, but the closing price was $1.11⅛. Some northwestern advices claimed most of the reports from North Dakota were favorable, but the local crop experts were evidently not campaigning in sections of the state where good things could be said of the crop. There were reports of South Dakota thrashing yields as low as 3 bu to the acre. The local cash market was steady at Saturday's prices, compared with the September future, but the milling demand was generally reported slow. Clearances were only 17,000 bu wheat and flour, and there is still no export demand. The visible supply increased 45,000 bu for the week, compared with a decrease of 541,000 bu the corresponding week last year, and is now 20,000 bu more than a year ago, at the small total of 12,558,000 bu. Liverpool futures were ⅛d to ⅜d higher in spite of the weakness here on Saturday.

Oats Share in Gains.

Oats responded to the strength in other grains and to the demand of traders who believe they are selling too cheaply any way, with net gains of ⅝c to ¾c. There was a general local and commission demand, with some profit taking on the advance on lines of September and December held through Kidston. Receipts are still liberal, and there was some selling in the way of hedges. There were 322 cars in, with 511 estimated for today. There were 108 cars of standard grade, and 16 more out of private houses. Stocks in store, however, increased only 39,000 bu, while the visible increased 270,000 bu. Cash prices were steady to ¼c lower for most of the sales, but advanced at the close with the futures. The shipping demand was slow, sales, 5,000 bu. Clearances were 11,000 bu.

Small Gains in Provisions.

Provisions were dull, but were influenced by the grain strength to a moderate extent. Pork closed 7½@20c higher, lard 5@7½c higher, ribs 2½@5c higher. The local talent was inclined to play the market for a rally, but their efforts were met by free sales of lard by Cudahy and more or less liquidation of September holdings through commission houses. Receipts of hogs were less than expected and prices at the yards were 10c higher.

Rye steady and quiet. September 70c bid and December 72c bid. No. 1 sold at 71c and No. 2 at the same price. No. 3 sold at 68c.

Barley was in small supply, but the offerings of new were in good condition. Malting quotable at 40@46c for low grade to good up to [illegible]. Screenings, 35@38c.

Flaxseed was 1@1½c lower, but with quotations entirely nominal. No. 1 northwestern sold at $1.23½ bid; No. 1, $1.15¼; September, nominally $1.15½. Receipts, 3 cars; Minneapolis, 7 cars; and Duluth, 2 cars.

Timothy seed was dull and unchanged. September sold at $3.05; October, $2.90 bid. Country lots quotable at $2.75@2.90 up to $3.00.

Clover was quotable firm. A cable from Hamburg estimated the crop of Russia and France smaller than last year.

INTERESTING TRADE GOSSIP ON 'CHANGE.

It was still hard to tell just what to believe about the northwestern wheat crop. Local experts sent some calamitous news and views from sections of the Dakotas, while on the other hand there were good reports from other sections. Spencer Moore of Duluth wired Dorhke: "The majority of reports coming here from North Dakota are good. One elevator concern has twenty-seven favorable reports and one unfavorable report." A Minneapolis message to Logan-Bryan said: "This crop is spotted. One minute you will see samples of wheat that is still growing that will make you bearish. Next minute you see some wheat that has been thrashed that will make you bullish. No man living can get a line on it yet." But Snow wired Knight-Donnelley from Grand Forks, N. D.: "Condition in Red River valley deplorable. Bulk of crop ten days to two weeks from harvest and much just in bloom. Didn't promise 75 per cent crop even before rust struck it. Forty per cent of the acreage of the state is in this valley, and it is late, thin, short, and rotten with rust; may make 10 bu or may go much less. Only thrashing will tell. Fields that look ripe are simply dead, with heads empty or half filled. Rust severe enough to cut crop at present in three-fourths of the state. Other quarter has a big crop. No use trying to make a state estimate until I know whether frost comes before Sept. 1." Inglis wired Pringle-Fitch-Rankin on North Dakota conditions: "Larimore, Casselton, Wahpeton to Morris prospects bad, and quality poor. Cutting is general, both ripe and unripe."

There were enough reports of damage to corn from dry weather and heat in Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska, Illinois, and Indiana to suggest the danger of a liberal paring down from the crop prospect of 2,400,000,000 bu of Aug. 1 as indicated by the government report. There were so many such messages, and they brought so much buying with them they added 2½c to the price of the new crop futures easily. J. F. Harris, who has just returned from a trip through Illinois, Missouri, and Kansas on the Santa Fé, did not think there would be over half a crop of corn along that line. Thresher of Kansas City wired McReynolds: "Dry weather in Kansas and Nebraska making situation critical. Crop late and needing rain badly." Another Kansas City message said: "Some scattered reports of corn needing rain. Nothing general as yet. Morning papers comment upon it; think with continuation of this weather complaints will be numerous tomorrow. Corn is in poor condition to stand much hundred degree weather." Kansas City also wires: "Damage reports coming from western Kansas on corn where the crop has been best." A Cincinnati message to Ware-Leland said: "Just in from a trip through southern Indiana. Corn in Indiana, Ohio, and Kentucky is in miserable shape. Worse off than in the drought year of 1901. No rain since July 5 here of consequence. Rain would be too late now."

Reports of red and black rust showing badly in samples of wheat from thirty miles west of Winnipeg, a suggestion that the Manitoba crop was not going to escape the blight which has struck spring wheat in the American northwest, had an electrical effect upon the local market. A good many of the Canadian authorities, however, and not seem to have heard of the visitation, and were unwilling to admit its possibility. Thompson of Winnipeg seemed as hopeful as ever, declaring conditions ideal and prospect for 70,000,000 bu. S. P. Clark, another Winnipeg elevator man, wired: "Impossible to give opinion of crop just now. All depends on the weather. It is ten days late." M. H. Bennett of the Calumet and Western Grain company, who returned from Winnipeg on Saturday, says: "There is a good deal of nonsense in the talk of damage to the Manitoba crop. It is backward in some places, but in others is well along. I have heard no reliable report of rust anywhere in the province."

"Wheat will not sell at $1.25 this month," says C. A. King & Co. of Toledo. "It has had a speculative spree and caused some talk of $1.25 wheat, but that price will hardly be realized this month unless serious fresh crop damage develops at home or abroad. Our exportable surplus is small. Domestic conditions will have more effect than any recent year. Domestic buyers are not inclined to discount their wants. Dollar wheat will restrict the consumption a little, while other commodities are more reasonable. Will farmers continue to push their crops into the show windows or help the bulls by keeping them out of sight? It has been a long time since dollar wheat prevailed so early in the season. These are dream prices. Most shorts have been driven ashore."

World's shipments for the week were 8,504,000 bu, compared with 9,112,000 bu the week before and 9,952,000 bu. American, Russian, and Indian shipments were all under those of the week before, but those from Danubian ports were heavier. World's shipments of corn for the week were 3,916,000 bu, or 250,000 bu more than those of the week before. For the corresponding week last year they were 4,351,000 bu.

Reports to an elevator company operating country stations all over Iowa, from twenty-five points, agreed that the last three days of warm weather had helped the growing crop, but that the crop was late and backward and would take six weeks of the most favorable weather to give them an average crop.

Contract stocks of wheat show a decrease for the week of 100,575 bu and are 439,007 bu. Stocks of No. 2 hard are 100,824 bu, or 5,011 bu smaller than a week ago. Contract stocks of corn decreased 531,609 bu for the week and are 2,049,963 bu. Stocks of standard oats increased 39,000 bu to 333,290 bu.

A Hamburg (Germany) dealer cabled C. A. King & Co. of Toledo: "Clover seed prospect in Russia and France smaller than last year. Great Britain and Italy good. Chile excellent, double last year. Austria and Silesia small, but larger than expected."

There were reports of yields of wheat as low as 3 bu to the acre near Aberdeen, in South Dakota. From western Kansas came claims that some late wheat which had been damaged by rust turned out 7 bu to the acre where 20 had been expected.

The following was received by Bartlett, Frazier & Carrington from J. R. Marfield, Minneapolis: "Our agents in North Dakota and northern Minnesota give us the worst reports so far. I believe the crop in that section is going back daily."

Broomhall's agent at Rostoff-on-Don cabled that the spring wheat crop in the southern region will be medium in size and in the Volga region abundant.

Samples of new spring wheat from South Dakota of fine quality, weighing 58 lbs to the bu, have been received here with requests for bids.

Estimated receipts for today: Wheat, 261 cars; corn, 191 cars; oats, 511 cars; hogs, 19,000.

Charters were made for 100,000 bu of corn to Buffalo at 1⅛c.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK MARKET.

The opening day of the week in the live stock trade brought lighter supplies than had been expected, but under the existing conditions the number was ample for all demands. WAR NEWS AND MARKET.

FALL OF PORT ARTHUR WOULD BE A BULL ARGUMENT.

Great Disasters Taken to Foreshadow Peace and a Resumption of Trade—Chicago Business Relatively Light—Governing Committee Scheduled to Meet Tomorrow and Elect a Permanent Chairman—St. Louis Southwestern's Year.

The course of the stock market yesterday gave some indication of the extent to which the war is a factor in the making of prices. Based on the news of the morning there was a decided upturn, though the advance did not hold throughout the day.

It is not a matter of sympathy with either belligerent. It is that decisive events are taken to foreshadow the ending of the war and the consequent resumption of the world's commerce in the east. The annihilation of the Japanese fleet would be as much a bull factor as the destruction of the Russian.

The Spanish-American war afforded the latest illustration of how the stock market discounts the results of hostilities. When the Maine was blown up in March, 1898, there followed a great slump in prices. The loss of the ship was construed infallibly to presage war, something which it actually did. After the full effect of what the loss of the battleship meant had been felt in the market there was irregularity and uncertainty continuing until there was received the news on the morning of May 1, when the Spanish fleet was destroyed in Manila bay. From that time uncertainty of the stock market was over and prices advanced rapidly. The action was so decisive that it was taken to mean the beginning of the end of the war—the second instance in which the market proved to be right.

There was in the following July some uncertainty in prices prior to the battle of Santiago. The halt, however, was of no consequence compared with the previous upward movement. By the surrender at Santiago the market was not greatly influenced. Peace had been discounted and thoroughly so.

The fall of Port Arthur would certainly be a bull argument in the market, though probably it would not be construed as so fully decisive as was the battle of Manila. There would still remain, after Port Arthur, Vladivostok and the Manchurian army.

Local houses were not specially active in yesterday's market and have not done much in the last fortnight. July was a good month for them, but August has not shown the same kind or extent of buying. However, but few stocks are held, and the west is still in a position to become a good buyer when assured that an era of higher prices is at hand.

Candidates for Exchange Chairman.

Members of the governing committee of the local stock exchange are scheduld to meet tomorrow to act on the choice of a permanent chairman of the exchange. There are at least three candidates mentioned. They are John Wilson, Paul Noyes, and E. S. Hunt. Mr. Wilson is assistant national bank examiner for the Chicago district. Mr. Noyes is an attorney, and Mr. Hunt is a member of the exchange. Mr. Hackney, who is vice chairman and has been filling the office temporarily, is desired for the position, but it would entail giving up his private business in order to comply with the rules of the exchange.

The annual figures of the St. Louis Southwestern were issued yesterday. Gross for the year showed an increase of 5 per cent. Operating expenses were 70.87 per cent, against 72.21 per cent the preceding year. Ther was considerable increase in fixed charges, however, resulting in a decrease in the surplus of $26,007.

Foreign Exchange.

Opening soft and lower, sterling developed further weakness during the second hour's trading and broke 5 points. The market was a narrow one. General Financial News.

The New York subtreasury since last Friday has lost $854,000 to the banks.

For the month of July earnings of the Gulf and Ship Island increased $13,629, compared with the corresponding month last year.

Bulls on Twin City stock are predicting that the shares will sell at 110, and that the dividend on the common will be raised to 6 per cent at the end of the year.

The $325,000 4 per cent, thirty year bonds issued by Cincinnati were sold at 111.03.

An official of the American Smelting and Refining company is quoted as saying he believes the proposed scheme to merge the National Lead and United Lead companies will be approved by interests in the former company in the near future.

Evers & Co. are offering the first mortgage, twenty-five year, 5 per cent gold bonds of the Potomac Electric Power company of Washington, D. C. The entire electric lighting and power business of the District is owned and controlled by this company.

Union Pacific earnings for the year are practically 12 per cent on the common stock.

Chicago Stocks.

American Can preferred opened at 43 yesterday, but on considerable selling orders from the east the price closed at 42. The New York curb was weak. In the remainder of the market there was steadiness, but no movement of consequence.

IN THE BOSTON MONEY MARKET.

BOSTON, Mass., Aug. 15.—[Special.]—Trading was fairly good in Boston today and Massachusetts Gas issues were specially strong because of the statement that the litigation between the companies and Receiver Pepper of the Bay State Gas company probably will be settled out of court. Copper Range went down a point, presumably on account of the bear campaign.

IN FOREIGN MONEY MARKET.

LONDON, Aug. 15.—Money was in moderate demand today and in good supply. Prices on the stock exchange were steady, but trading had an uncertain tendency and operators generally were idle, many taking advantage of the unpopular nineteen days' account to enjoy a holiday. Consols improved on the cheapness of money. Americans opened firm, in sympathy with New York. Atchison was the feature. Foreigners were inactive, being affected by the Paris holiday. Japanese hardened. Russians and Turks were weak. Imperial Japanese government 6s of 1904 were quoted at 96.

BERLIN, Aug. 15.—Trading on the boerse today was quiet and had a waiting tendency.

Trunk Lines and Coalers Get Into Trading, While Steel Is Most Conspicuous Laggard in Market—Southern Pacific Under Constant Pressure as Result of Profit Taking—Metropolitan Tractions Feverish and Irregular—Close Shows Losses.

[BY A SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—[Special.]—Breadth, depth, strength, and activity were the features in stock market trading today, with the volume exceeding that of any day during the present upward movement. The basis of the growth of confidence here was clearly the faith that the country is to enjoy prosperous crops. The corn and cotton carriers showed the greatest effects from this faith, but St. Paul, as a wheat carrier, with a large spring wheat traffic, was not excluded.

The most conspicuous feature was its diversion into the new field of the trunk lines and coalers. These groups have been comparatively neglected, while the crops have been of dominant interest. Good prospects in the steel trade have held Pennsylvania at times, but the movement of these stocks today seemed more to be based on assumptions of the good to come from the crops to the whole country. United States Steel preferred was the conspicuous laggard in the day's movement.

Southern Pacific also was under constant pressure to take profits and made its highest price on the running quotations and at the opening. The Metropolitan Tractions were feverish and irregular throughout the day, in spite of the violent advance of Interborough Transit on the curb.

Bonds were irregular. Total sales, par value, $3,775,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

Money on call easy, ⅞@1; closing bid, 1; offered at 1. Time loans easy but dull; 60 days and 90 days 2@2¼, six months 3½. Prime mercantile paper 4@4½ per cent. Sterling exchange easy, then firmer, with actual business in bankers' bills at 488@488.05 for demand and at 485.25@485.30 for 60 day bills. Posted rates 486@486½ and 489@489½. Commercial bills, 484¾. Bar silver, 57⅝. Mexican dollars, 45½. Government bonds steady.

NEWS OF INSURANCE WORLD.

EDITED BY C. M. CARTWRIGHT.

Eastern News Telegraphed from New York Journal of Commerce and Commercial Bulletin.

Financial interests which have loans on property in Arkansas are already beginning to take some cognizance of the proposed anti-compact fire insurance law in that state, inasmuch as it is generally understood that if this law is passed the fire insurance companies will retire from that state. The bill that has been drafted will make it practically impossible for a company to remain in the state if it becomes a statute. Several eastern corporations hold mortgages on Arkansas property, and appreciate the fact that if the fire insurance companies withdraw their loans will be exposed to too great an extent. They are inquiring as to the strength that such a bill would possibly have in the legislature, and if the indications are favorable to its passage they will begin to use influence throughout the state to bring pressure to bear to defeat the bill.

A suit has been decided at Chattanooga, Tenn., which is a victory for the National Surety company. The Security Warehouse company issues warehouse receipts, demanding in some cases that collateral be put up to protect the receipts. The National Surety bonds the warehouse company. In the suit in question a concern had the warehouse company issue receipts, the latter taking collateral to protect it. The concern went into bankruptcy, the trustees in bankruptcy contending that the collateral put up should be placed in their hands. The court decided against their contention.

A. L. McCrae, western correspondent of the Associated Underwriters at South and North American Lloyds, New York, for which a petition has been filed in New York, to have this Lloyds declared bankrupt, declares that this action was brought by the A. M. Best company, the insurance collection agency. He says that in the petition it was claimed that three losses had been adjusted and remain unpaid. Mr. McCrae is advised by the attorneys for the Associated Underwriters that none of these claims has been adjusted, for the reason given that the assured have not complied with the conditions of the policy and have not furnished the information which they are required to do. He avers that the same objection has been raised by other companies interested in these losses. He is advised that proper legal steps have been taken by the attorneys for th Lloyds to have the petition denied.

Another merger of Chicago local agencies is about to come to a focus.

President J. B. Branch of the Providence, Washington, is in Chicago.

General Agent J. W. G. Cofran of the Hartford Fire has gone to the Pacific coast.

Scruggs & Smith of Dallas have been appointed general agents of the Agricultural for Texas.

M. T. Hallowell, formerly of E. D. Clarke & Co., J. W. Wheaton, and E. W. Niehoff have formed the firm of Hallowell, Wheaton & Niehoff, to transact a general insurance business in Chicago. Messrs. Wheaton and Niehoff continue independently as general agents of the Inland Fire.

Members of the Chicago Underwriters' association are considerably aroused over the expression of Manager P. D. McGregor of the Queen regarding the operations of the local board. He champions the cause of the suburban agents, claiming that they should have a voice in affairs of the association pertaining to their interests. He takes the ground that the majority in the association exercises autocratic control, telling the companies what to do when the companies pay the bills. He believes that the class 3 agents have justice on their side, which must be recognized by the underwriters' association sooner or later.

C. S. Timberlake of St. Paul, special agent of the Providence, Washington, succeeds Edward Meinel as agency superintendent of the Federal of New Jersey and Assurance Company of America.

C. H. Carpenter of Quebec succeeds Maj. J. B. Day as agency director of the New York Life at Columbus, O.

The Aug. 1 statement given by the Illinois Central Fire of Chicago shows: Assets, $156,409; reserve, $5,787; surplus, $48,931. The stocks owned by this company are: People's Ice, $56,250; American Imports, $24,750; West Coast Lumber, $42,500.

Indianapolis Agent Dead.

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 15.—[Special.]—Hiram Plummer, a real estate and insurance agent in this city since 1888, died yesterday at the age of 62. His two sons will continue the business.

NEWS NOTES FROM NEW YORK.

New York, Aug. 15.—[Special.]—Owing to the condition of the boilers at the low level pumping station in Montreal the Canadian Fire Underwriters' Assurance association has decided to increase fire insurance rates by 50 cents more than the existing tariff. The new tariff, which has gone into effect, will apply to the congested section of Montreal from the water front to Lagauchetiere street, bounded on the east and the west by St. Denis and Murray streets, respectively. Other districts will not be affected by the increase. Fred Mussen, assistant secretary of the association, says the measure was adopted because Montreal is in danger of a water famine resulting from the defective equipment. It was intimated in a recent report of the water committee that the boilers are liable to explode at any moment, thereby cutting off the water supply.

Many accident insurance companies are demanding increased rates for policies covering accidents to postal clerks, as they say the claims from these risks are becoming numerous.

There is a movement among accident underwriters to get companies writing health insurance to take some concerted action towards an advance of premium rates on that class of risk, as it is asserted experience shows that on the present basis the business is unprofitable.

The loss ratio on all lines of personal accident insurance is said to be unusually high this summer, and with the large commissions paid the margin of profit is meager.

The Scottish National Insurance company of Chicago has discontinued accepting surplus business, and will write only in states in which it is admitted.

Marine insurance rates covering war risks on vessels and cargoes bound for the far east were easier in tone today in consequence of the defeat of the Russian Vladivostok squadron. Underwriters experienced a feeling of relief over the events of the last day or two, as the indications are that the menace to neutral shipping has been greatly diminished. The actual quotations, however, were no lower, as there was a disposition to await more definite news as to the whereabouts of the Russian cruisers that escaped from Port Arthur. Current rates now are 1 per cent from the Pacific coast ports to Japan and 1¼ per cent from Japan ports outward. These, it is expected, will be lowered as soon as the position of the Russian ships becomes known.

Inquiry for insurance covering war risks has been limited since the disastrous raid of the Vladivostok fleet, but now that this has been crippled the underwriters look for a larger movement of cargoes and consequent increase in the demand for war insurance, as shippers keep their ventures well covered.

IN THE REAL ESTATE WORLD.

The foreclosure sale of the Alhambra theater, which was to have occurred at 11 o'clock this morning at the auction rooms of the real estate board, has been postponed indefinitely by Master in Chancery E. A. Dicker. The property is at the southwest corner of State street and Archer avenue, and was to have been sold to satisfy a judgment in favor of the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance company for $265,820, the amount of a loan, unpaid interest, and costs. The action was against the Alhambra company, Harriet D. Smith, executrix of the estate of Dunlap Smith; and Emma Smith and Perry Smith Jr. The property fronts 293 feet on State street, 175 feet on Archer avenue, and 151 feet on Twentieth street.

William H. Barry has made another large purchase of property in Clifton avenue, Sheridan Park, paying $20,000 for a tract 100x101 feet, east front, 341 feet south of Wilson avenue, and another tract 100x94 feet, also east front, and 141 feet south of Wilson avenue. He secured a loan of $70,000 for the construction of an apartment building which will cost $100,000, obtaining $20,000 from Samuel Brown Jr., $25,000 from Peabody, Houghteling & Co., and $25,000 from the Chicago Title and Trust company.

The trust deed given by the South Side Elevated railroad company to the Illinois Trust and Savings bank, securing the new issue of twenty year 4½ per cent bonds, was placed on record yesterday. It covers the whole line of the elevated structure from Congress street to Stony Island avenue and the extension about to be built.

There were also recorded three deeds from Harry G. Selfridge to John T. Pirie and others conveying for a nominal consideration the leasehold interest and buildings at the southeast corner of State and Madison streets and the buildings at 141 to 147 Wabash avenue.

Simon W. Straus has loaned to William A. Nicholson $12,500 for five years at 5½ per cent, secured on the flat property in Ellis avenue, 100 feet north of Sixty-fifth street, east front, 50x124 feet.

The Chicago Title and Trust company has been made trustee for a $10,000 loan to Samuel K. Nester and John T. Mathews, ten years, at 5 per cent, secured on the apartment house property at the northwest corner of Washington boulevard and California avenue, 64x120 feet.

Joseph Downey has purchased from John P. Ready for $50,000 the manufacturing property at the southwest corner of Jackson boulevard and Desplaines street, having a north frontage of 100 feet and a depth of 82 feet. He bought it as an investment and contemplates no changes.

CARSON PIRIE SCOTT & Co.

Are Clearing Their Entire Stock

State and Washington Sts.

Prices throughout the house are reduced on a scale seldom, if ever, attempted anywhere. There is a good reason for it: Quick selling is now more important here than selling at a profit.

Having purchased the business of H. G. Selfridge & Co. at State and Madison Sts., we desire to consolidate our business there as soon as possible. But stocks at the old store—great quantities of standard goods—must be cleared first.

Department heads have been instructed to make prices that will insure speedy clearing. We have not had time yet to re-mark each individual piece of goods, but that is being done as fast as possible. Our service is affected by the rush and by employment of many new salespeople; but we believe you will find such flaws more than atoned for by the values.

New Prices—Lower Prices—in Every Department

WANTED—100 salesmen and saleswomen. Bring references and apply Employment Manager, second floor, State and Washington Streets.
